JAP FLIERS TRY PACIFIC

Trio Flying Land Plane In "Good Will" Tour To United States.

TOKYO, Sept. 24.—Three Japanese Good Will fliers who took off from Sabishiro Beach for the United States today passed over Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula of Siberia at 5:30 p. m. (3:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time).

Petropavlosvk is about 1,700 miles from Sabishire Beach. Since the fliers have been in the air only 12 hours having taken off from here at 5:37 a. m. they are making the nominal progress.

WEATHER IS GOOD

Extremely favorable weather favored the airmen as they undertook the flight and they were believed to have met good conditions all along the first part of their trip.

They were heading for Nome, Alaska, as their first stop. From there they plan to proceed to San Francisco, Fairbanks, Alaska, and White Horse, Yukon territory.

The flight sponsored by the Tokyo newspaper Hochi Shimbun was the third such venture planned, two previous trips having met with failure. Although the Pacific has been crossed by American, German and Russian fliers all attempts by Japanese have been futile.

YOUTHS ON TRIP

Eichiro Baba, 27-year-old pilot, Kiyoshi Honma, navigator and Tomoyoshi Ishita, radio operator, are the three occupants of the plane, a Junkers land plane.

The trio expected to reach Nome within 30 hours after the takeoff. Nome is 2,670 miles from Tokyo. They carried fuel for 40 hours flying.

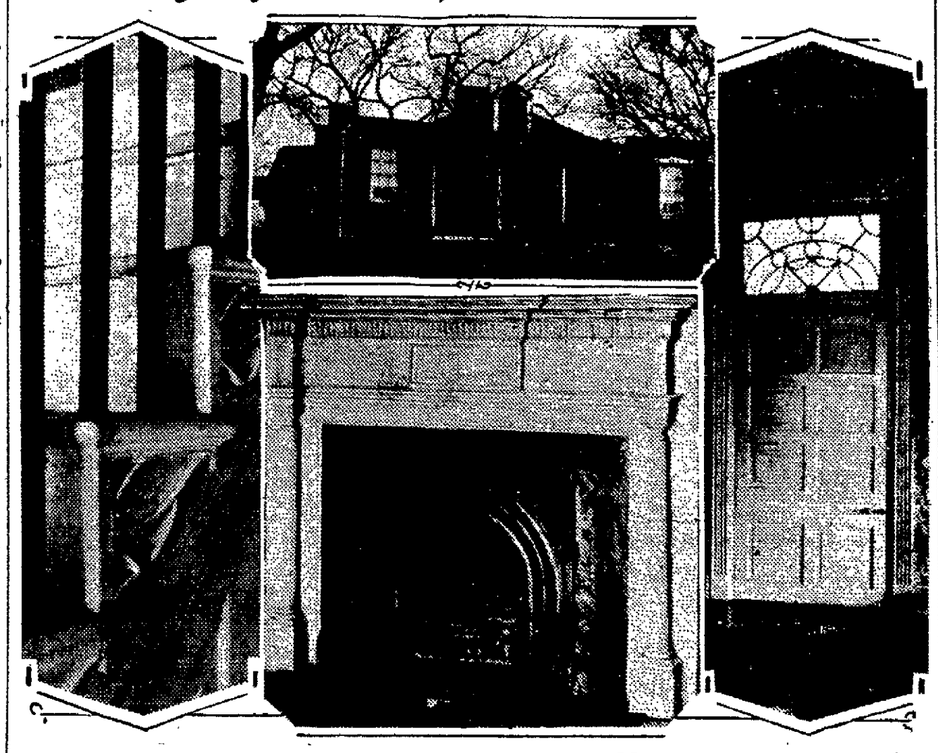
Young Residence On Scioto Trail Passes Century Of Service; Was Erected In 1832



Quaint, Antique Furniture and Decorations Make Mount Oval Home One of Show-Places of Central Ohio, Many Visitors Being Attracted; Tour Through Home is Great Experience

By PAT KIRWIN

UNUSUAL in its quaintness and distinguished by its antiquated furnishings, the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Young of Pickaway-twp, known as Mount Oval, located on the Scioto Trail, five miles south of Circleville, has withstood the "wear and tear" of 100 years and through careful and proper attention still stands in excellent condition.

From an architectural standpoint this ancient red brick structure, erected in 1832 by William B. Renick, one of Pickway-co's early citizens, is said to be the most interesting home in this section of the country.

In picking out a site for this home, Mr. Renick selected an elevation over-looking vast stretches of fertile plain and then constructed a unique brick residence, which in spite of the lapse of 100 years, is in a fine state of preservation and barring cyclones and earthquakes, bids fair to remain a comfortable and desirable home for another hundred years to come.

VISITORS NUMEROUS

During the past summer, Mr. and Mrs. Young have conducted a large number of interested and curious persons through the fine old mansion and all of the visitors have marvelled about the trip through the century-old homestead.

FOLLOWING the lines of Georgian architecture, the home is without American prototype, although it is colonial and suggestive of the historic homes of Salem. It is a large square with square projections at each of the four corners. At the back of the fourth corner stood the detached kitchen which since has been joined to the house by adding a connecting room.

The front of the home is distinguished by several beautifully constructed stone pillars. The doorway is also of stone and said by stone cutting experts to be the finest example of fancy stone cutting art.

HEIRLOOM-FILLED

The inside of the home is richly furnished in antiques which are heirlooms in Mrs. Young's family. Oil paintings of George and Martha Washington and Abraham Lincoln, which decorated the wall of the beautiful front living room while Mr. Renick resided there, add to the ancient furnishings. In this home are found the most magnificent mantles that are seen anywhere. Handsomely carved and painted in a rich ivory, these mantels are the finest features of the household. Not overdone, but pleasing and restful to the eye, they appeal as a beautiful painting. The mantle picture above is found in the large central room in the front of the house where also is seen the inside front doorway pictured above.

This royal room, 25 feet square with a 12 foot ceiling, is handsomely finished, the large windows having cornices of ornamental brass, in all probability imported. There are many commodious and comfortable rooms, but it is naturally concluded that in this large central room, the pioneers with sweethearts and wives, tripped the "light fantastic" to "Money Musk" or "Turkey in the Straw" until the "wee sma' hours of the morning."

Two other rooms on the right side of the house, separated by folding doors have indentical mantles at either end, with built in wine cupboards. In one of the rooms hangs an oil painting of Mount Oval with the red brick residence pictured in its original colors. The painting was done by William Kimbaugh and sold to Mr.

SALARY CUTS OUTLINED BY BEVIS TODAY

Legislation Now Planned to Save State More Than Three Millions

OFFICIALS OBJECT

Gov. White Behind Effort for Reduction

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24.—Cuts in the salaries and wages of all state and local officers and employes throughout Ohio, ranging from five to 15 per cent, were recommended today by Gov. George White's economy committee.

The committee, through a preliminary report placed in the governor's hands by Finance Director Howard L. Bevis, chairman, advised that the state legislature, during its third special session, opening here Tuesday afternoon, enact salary-cutting legislation designed to save the state approximately $3,000,000 during the coming two years.

The proposed legislation, in the judgment of the committee, should make the following reductions:

Five per cent of the first $3,000 of any annual salary, or wages, on any portion thereof; 10 per cent of compensation in excess of $3,000 up to and including, $5,000, and 15 per cent of that portion in excess of $5,000.

IRON INEQUALITIES

The committee also recommended that the state civil service commission immediately proceed with a thorough study of the duties performed by public employes, the necessity for classification of positions, and all phases of the question of wages in order to iron out inequalities and to collect data which will be useful in preparing necessary amendments to the state civil service laws for presentation to the legislators at their regular session which begins next January.

Pointing out that it has collected considerable statistical and other information dealing with the costs of state government, and that in the counties and other political subdivisions, the committee informed Governor White of its willingness to continue its investigation and submit recommendations for legislation at the January session.

Attention was directed by the committee to the fact that any salary-cutting legislation that may be enacted at the coming special session will not affect judges and

JAP FLIERS TRY PACIFIC

Trio Flying Land Plane In "Good Will" Tour To United States.

TOKYO, Sept. 24.—Three Japanese Good Will fliers who took off from Sabishiro Beach for the United States today passed over Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula of Siberia at 5:30 p. m. (3:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time).

Petropavlosvk is about 1,700 miles from Sabishire Beach. Since the fliers have been in the air only 12 hours having taken off from here at 5:37 a. m. they are making the nominal progress.

WEATHER IS GOOD

Extremely favorable weather favored the airmen as they undertook the flight and they were believed to have met good conditions all along the first part of their trip.

They were heading for Nome, Alaska, as their first stop. From there they plan to proceed to San Francisco, Fairbanks, Alaska, and White Horse, Yukon territory.

The flight sponsored by the Tokyo newspaper Hochi Shimbun was the third such venture planned, two previous trips having met with failure. Although the Pacific has been crossed by American, German and Russian fliers all attempts by Japanese have been futile.

YOUTHS ON TRIP

Eichiro Baba, 27-year-old pilot, Kiyoshi Honma, navigator and Tomoyoshi Ishita, radio operator, are the three occupants of the plane, a Junkers land plane.

The trio expected to reach Nome within 30 hours after the takeoff. Nome is 2,670 miles from Tokyo. They carried fuel for 40 hours flying.

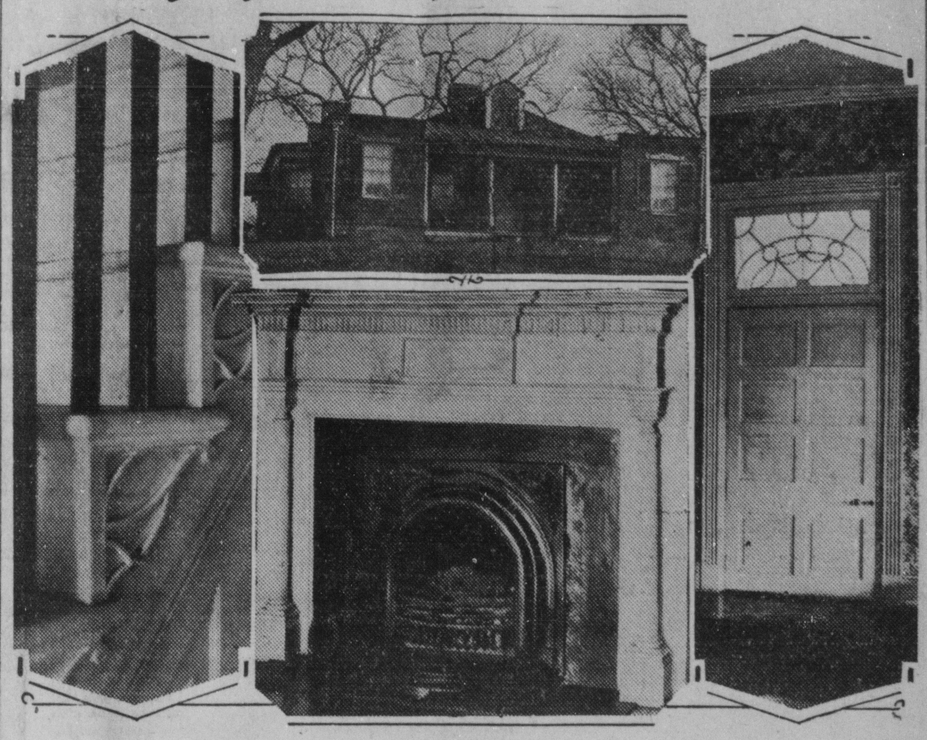
Young Residence On Scioto Trail Passes Century Of Service; Was Erected In 1832



Quaint, Antique Furniture and Decorations Make Mount Oval Home One of Show-Places of Central Ohio, Many Visitors Being Attracted; Tour Through Home is Great Experience

By PAT KIRWIN

UNUSUAL in its quaintness and distinguished by its antiquated furnishings, the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Young of Pickaway-twp, known as Mount Oval, located on the Scioto Trail, five miles south of Circleville, has withstood the "wear and tear" of 100 years and through careful and proper attention still stands in excellent condition.

From an architectural standpoint this ancient red brick structure, erected in 1832 by William B. Renick, one of Pickway-co's early citizens, is said to be the most interesting home in this section of the country.

In picking out a site for this home, Mr. Renick selected an elevation over-looking vast stretches of fertile plain and then constructed a unique brick residence, which in spite of the lapse of 100 years, is in a fine state of preservation and barring cyclones and earthquakes, bids fair to remain a comfortable and desirable home for another hundred years to come.

VISITORS NUMEROUS

During the past summer, Mr. and Mrs. Young have conducted a large number of interested and curious persons through the fine old mansion and all of the visitors have marvelled about the trip through the century-old homestead.

FOLLOWING the lines of Georgian architecture, the home is without American prototype, although it is colonial and suggestive of the historic homes of Salem. It is a large square with square projections at each of the four corners. At the back of the fourth corner stood the detached kitchen which since has been joined to the house by adding a connecting room.

The front of the home is distinguished by several beautifully constructed stone pillars. The doorway is also of stone and said by stone cutting experts to be the finest example of fancy stone cutting art.

HEIRLOOM-FILLED

The inside of the home is richly furnished in antiques which are heirlooms in Mrs. Young's family. Oil paintings of George and Martha Washington and Abraham Lincoln, which decorated the wall of the beautiful front living room while Mr. Renick resided there, add to the ancient furnishings. In this home are found the most magnificent mantles that are seen anywhere. Handsomely carved and painted in a rich ivory, these mantels are the finest features of the household. Not overdone, but pleasing and restful to the eye, they appeal as a beautiful painting. The mantle picture above is found in the large central room in the front of the house where also is seen the inside front doorway pictured above.

This royal room, 25 feet square with a 12 foot ceiling, is handsomely finished, the large windows having cornices of ornamental brass, in all probability imported. There are many commodious and comfortable rooms, but it is naturally concluded that in this large central room, the pioneers with sweethearts and wives, tripped the "light fantastic" to "Money Musk" or "Turkey in the Straw" until the "wee sma' hours of the morning."

Two other rooms on the right side of the house, separated by folding foors have indentical mantles at either end, with built in wine cupboards. In one of the rooms hangs an oil painting of Mount Oval with the red brick residence pictured in its original colors. The painting was done by William Kimbaugh and sold to Mr.

$20,000 Loss Results Near Lockbourne After Oil Lamp Explosion.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24.—Ten of the 18 cottages at the Darby Hunting and Fishing club, eight miles south of here, lay in ruins today after a $20,000 fire swept the resort following explosion of an oil lamp.

The cottages were quickly destroyed due to the difficulty of Columbus firemen in getting water to fight the flames. One of the fire trucks became mired in the bank of Big Walnut creek and was pulled out by a tractor. A bucket brigade was formed.

Firemen were told that the blaze started in the cottage of Tobias Ruhwedel of Columbus. Ruhwedel said a hanging lamp crashed to the floor and started the fire.

SALARY CUTS OUTLINED BY BEVIS TODAY

Legislation Now Planned to Save State More Than Three Millions

OFFICIALS OBJECT

Gov. White Behind Effort for Reduction

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24.—Cuts in the salaries and wages of all state and local officers and employes throughout Ohio, ranging from five to 15 per cent, were recommended today by Gov. George White's economy committee.

The committee, through a preliminary report placed in the governor's hands by Finance Director Howard L. Bevis, chairman, advised that the state legislature, during its third special session, opening here Tuesday afternoon, enact salary-cutting legislation designed to save the state approximately $3,000,000 during the coming two years.

The proposed legislation, in the judgment of the committee, should make the following reductions:

Five per cent of the first $1,000 of any annual salary, or wage, or any portion thereof; 10 per cent of compensation in excess of $1,000 up to and including, $5,000, and 15 per cent of that portion in excess of $5,000.

IRON INEQUALITIES

The committee also recommended that the state civil service commission immediately proceed with a thorough study of the duties performed by public employes, the necessity for classification of positions, and other phases of the question of wages in order to iron out inequalities and to collect data which may be useful in preparing necessary amendments to the state civil service laws for presentation to the legislators at their regular session which begins next January.

Pointing out that it has collected considerable statistical and other information dealing with the costs of state government and that in the counties and other political subdivisions, the committee informed Governor White of its willingness to continue its investigation and submit recommendations for legislation at the January session.

Attention was directed by the committee to the fact that any salary-cutting legislation that may be enacted at the coming special session will not affect judges and

Tigers Win "Moral" Victory Over Lancaster

Neither School Dents Goalline

Outplaying Lancaster high school's varsity grid team in the last half of the game Friday evening after taking the ball from the Fairfielders on downs on the six-inch line late in the second period, Coach Pete Herberholz' Red and Black gridders opened their season with a 0-0 score. The game was played at North field, Lancaster, and the crowd which saw it was estimated at upward of 1,500. Five hundred Circleville fans were there.

Although they failed to cross the goal line the Tigers can well consider the contest a 'moral' victory for to have mentioned a tie game before the contest started would have resulted in the emission of a series of 'Bronx' cheers.

USE NO SUBS

Coach Herberholz went through the entire game without a substitution while Lancaster used four extra men The squad came through the scrap in good shape with only minor bruises and bumps experienced although the entire team was plenty tired when the final gun cracked.

With this game out of the way Coach Herberholz, and Charlie Hax, new English teacher, who has been helping him, know what to expect out of the athletes and know what departments need more work than others.

Lancaster started the game as though it meant business. After Gaines Hill, acting captain, won the toss and chose to receive White was forced to punt and rooted the ball to Lancaster's 24-yard stripe out of bounds. When Bill Hegele tossed the Lancaster quarterback for a 12-yard loss it was thought advisable to kick and Charlie Davis was downed on his 43-yard mark.

White again kicked after failing to make any ground and Thomas, Lancaster safety man, broke loose for a return of 20 yards to his 37-yard line. Thomas made a yard in toting the ball out of bounds and LaFever crashed center on a delayed buch for a first down putting the ball practically in midfield.

On three plays LaFever again scored a first down taking the ball to the Circleville 30-yard mark and after Capt. Hill had called for time out LeFever again made first down in three plays. The ball was on the 20.

LaFever got two, then one and White came up fast to throw Thomas for a two yard loss on a sweeping end run. White then went back to ground a pass near the goal-line and Circleville took the ball on the 17 mark.

White again punted to midfield and when they failed to gain LaFever punted beautifully to Davis who was downed on the five yard line. Charlie didn't look so hot on this play trying to pick the ball off the ground with several Lancaster men near him. He nearly lost it.

The quarter ended before a play could be tried.

HALTED ON GOAL

White immediately punted and when he was smacked by Mills after the ball had gone, Lancaster was penalized five yards. Gains Hill broke between his left guard and tackle and made 12 yards for the initial Tiger first down. Davis lost two and White's quick kick was not much good going out of bounds on the Circleville 34 mark.

Then came the "Stand of the Tiger." LeFever cracked center for six then made three but on the next play White covered a fumble for Circleville on the 23 yard mark. Davis got two and Abdullah who replaced Thomas gained 18 yards on a punt. A Lancaster reverse scored two yards and Abdullah broke off right tackle for a first down. Three plays gained but little and after two Circleville men had hit a pass attempt it dropped into the hands of Snyder for a first down on the 16 yard line. Abdullah got one and another pass to Snyder gained seven.

LaFever made a fist down on the Tiger 8-yard line. He gained two then was smeared by the center of the Tiger line. Adullah sneaked the ball to the 1-2 yard mark and when the line refused to budge the Red and Black took the ball.

The half then ended.

WALLICE THROUGH

The Tigers displayed a nice offense in the last half but after progressing to the 17 yard line partly through a blocked punt by Pinky Wallace they were unable to score when a pass to Hegele went awry.

The third period was a punting duel with White holding his own against LaFever, although the latter once uncorked a quick kick which changed the complexion of matters. The period ended with the ball in midfield in Lancaster's possession.

Two plays and a pass failed and when LaFever tried to punt Wallace smashed the ball to the ground and although LaFever recovered the leather reverted to Circleville because of the fourth down. The ball was on the Lancaster 40-yard mark. Hill got two and Bill Hegele leaped high into the air for a pass good for 14 yards. Hill smacked for five and then was stopped cold. White gained four and Hill drove through center for a first down on the 15 yard line.

White was stopped and so was Hill before Hegele nearly pulled down a snap pass that might have meant yards. Wallace, the only time during the evening got his play mixed, and passed badly to Hill who recovered the ball which reverted to Lancaster on the 25 yard mark.

ALL GET PRAISE

That ended the threat of either team. Desperately passing with only a few minutes to play, neither team gained any ground although the ball changed hands several times through interception.

The game ended with Lancaster having the ball on its own 45 yard line

The entire Tiger team deserved much praise for the showing made Friday evening A new fight seems to dominate the squad and with such a spirit as they now have prevailing the local gridders should go a long way in the Central Buckeye league scramble this year.

Paul Hawkins, Lancaster's flashy colored quarterback, was not in the game because of torn ligaments in his right leg.

A technicality arose before the game started when Coach Herberholz protested the use of Ted Sawyer as an official. On the list of officials sent to E. I. Gephart by Lancaster school authorities Sawyer was refused as an official but when the teams appeared on the field Sawyer was there. Herberholz protested because of the 'terrible' basketball game Sawyer officiated here last year and as a result the man was not used.

LANCASTER GAME SIDE-LIGHTS

Circleville's representation at the game was over 500, according to one observer. The local high school athletic association scored a victory financially as it received 50 percent of the proceeds from tickets sold here and also one-fourth of the gate receipts at Lancaster.

The new uniforms of the Tigers were plenty hot! Black pants with a large red stripe coming up the back and white jerseys with black letters. The Lancasterites were clad in purple and gold.

Charles F. Hax, local high school instructor, acted the part of assistant coach and time-keeper.

Dean White, quarterback, received the opening kick-off, returning the ball about 12 yards.

Fred Grant and Bill Copeland, Red and Black cheer-leaders, had a tough time leading the noise. A crowd of Lancaster followers were mixed in the Red and Black audience and the former generally added their "boos" to a yell for the Tigers.

Supt. J. O. Eagleson was well-pleased with the outcome of the game. "Well, we'll certainly expect more from the team, after tonight's showing," he said.

Circleville's band under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein and drum-majorship of Bob Wilson "knocked em' cold" when it paraded onto the grounds at the opening of the game. Even Lancaster fans gave it a loud hand.

Circleville's future opponenent, Westerville, coming here as a Pumpkin Show special, Friday, Oct. 7, was humiliated by Upper Arlington Friday afternoon. The score was 40 to 0.

The game started at 8:05 p. m. and the first quarter concluded at 8:28.

Lancaster American Legion members acted as policemen at the game.

The Circleville band broke out with the high school song, "Red and Black" at the end of the first quarter and student body, alma mater and in fact all followers of Circleville and some of the Fairfield-co city arose to their feet.

Lancaster advanced the ball as far as the four-yard line in the second quarter, but that Tiger defense held and no goal was scored.

The half ended at 8:45 p. m.

The Red and Black band put on a nice parade during half-time. For some reason or the other, the Lancaster band didn't leave their seats. We can't say which was the better team, Lancaster or Circleville, but we do know Circleville's band beat 'em to pieces.

Capt. Gaines Hill had his new white jersey torn from his back during the third quarter. Coach Herberholz replenished him with another and the game continued.

Lancaster suffered its greatest penalty during the third quarter when the referee called 'em for illegal use of hands. The ball was taken back 15 yards.

Did you see Circleville's water boy? He, too, was plenty hot! Norman Coleman is his name. He's a close follower of the Tigers. So close that he rode to the game in a rumble seat in order to be there. He wore a black sweater with bright red letters—WATER BOY—C. H. S.

The game was played under 65,000 candle-power lites. The field was in excellent condition, no finer football weather could have been granted, and the Red and Black team pleased everybody.

MY CHURCH

Dr. Ozora Davis has said the following regarding the church:

"Here, through beautiful services, I come close to God and to my human comrades in worship.

Here in many ways I learn truths by which I may live a brave, happy and useful life.

Here I gain strength by which I become that which I have learned I ought to be.

Here I find comfort in my sorrow, courage in my struggle, joy in my victories.

Here I come into union with Christ, my Master and Friend."

A visitor to Europe tells of a very interesting custom she found in one of the villages. The church has no lighting arrangement, so the people carry little bronze lamps to church and attach them to fixtures on the pews. Naturally the more people the more light. Where there were absentees there were dark spots. Our churches have lighting fixtures, so we need not carry our lamps with us. But it stills remains true as Jesus said, "Ye are the light of the world." Are we fulfilling our mission? Do we go to church, or is there a dark spot where we should be? A light shines not for itself but for others. Go to church tomorrow, be a light in this world's darkness. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

SELF DEFEAT

"Doctor," said a despondent young man, "I am going to give up. I am a failure. If I only had money or special talent of some kind, I think I could succeed at something, but as it is I am handicapped."

"Are you well?" asked the doctor. "As far as I know" was the reply.

"Do you have all your faculties unimpaired?" Certainly" said the young man.

At the earnest request of the doctor, the lad went with him to visit some of his patients, the first was a girl having a spinal disease, with no control of her muscles and in constant pain. She was writing a letter on a typewriter. striking the key tipped with a rubber gnob.

At the second home was seen a blind boy weaving a beautiful rug. The boy was smiling as he worked.

At the third place, the young man saw an epileptic setting type for advertisements and at the the same time teaching other epileptics the work. He smiled as he worked.

When these visits had ended, the doctor injured, "Young man, are you not ashamed with your mental and physical soundness to say that you are handicapped in the race of life?

The youth went back to his home, ashamed. but determined to make the most of his many endowments.

Lesson for September 25

REVIEW: MOSES HONORED IN HIS DEATH

GOLDEN TEXT—Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 32: 48-52; 34:5-8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Moses Goes to Live With God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Death of a Great Leader.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What We May Learn From the Life of Moses.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC — What the World Owes Moses.

I. Moses Debarred From Canaan (32:48-52).

This act of God strikingly displays the tragedy of an unfinished task. Moses was loyal to God and faithfully served him through a long life. Though his "eye was not dimmed nor his natural force abated," he was obliged to leave his work unfinished. This is true of all of us. However, the tragedy is only apparent. Life is a probation. The question is not of finished tasks, but fidelity in service and growth in divine grace.

1. The reason for (v. 51). It was sin. The nature of this sin is given in Numbers 20:1-13. It was his failure to sanctify the Lord at Meribah. This penalty, while severe, was not too severe, for the righteousness of God demands the meting out of penalty upon every transgression. This was too glaring a sin for the Lord to pass over, though Moses had served him faithfully for many years.

2. God's treatment of Moses (vv. 49, 50). While it was severe, it was yet most tender. It was in keeping with God's nature. While God cannot pass over sin, he is always as gracious as his justice will permit. He appointed the place of Moses' death on the mount of vision. Moses was gathered "unto his people" showing that God was still his God, for God is not only the God of the dead, but of the living.

II. Moses Views the Promised Land from Mount Pisgah (34:1-4).

At the Lord's bidding Moses ascended the mountain of Nebo from which he got a view of the promised land. He obeyed though he knew that he was to die there (32: 50). He greatly desired to go into the land (3:25), but submitted to the will of the Lord. Though he was not permitted to enter the land, God gave him a view of the fullest dimensions of the land which was to be the inheritance of the people he had delivered and led for 40 years. While Moses suffered this severe penalty, we should remember that his salvation was not affected. He was debarred from entrance to the land at that time, but we see him in the land some fifteen centuries later in a state of glory discoursing with Christ on the loftiest theme of the universe; namely, the death which he would accomplish at Jerusalem. (Matt. 17:1-5); Luke 9:28-31).

III. The Death and Burial of Moses (34:5-8).

1. His death (v. 5). Though he died in the vigor of manhood, his work was done. God put him into the world for a purpose and as soon as that work was done he called him home. It is stated in verse five that he died according to the word of the Lord.

2. The burial of Moses (v. 8). God buried him. Moses had no human help or sympathy in his dying hour, but he had something better. The Lord was with him. His grave was concealed to prevent his people from making it a shrine.

3. The time of mourning for Moses (v. 8). They mourned for thirty days. It was customary to mourn for the dead from seven to seventy days. It is not wrong to lay away earthly friends even with tears, but as Christians we should not mourn as those who have no hope.

IV. An Encomium Upon Moses (34:10-12).

In this eulogy Moses is given a place at the head of the Old Testament prophets. With the exception of the greater prophet (Deut. 18: 15-18) of whom Moses was a type, he stands as the greatest prophet of Israel.

1. Because of his intimacy with God (v. 10). "Whom the Lord knew face to face."

2. He was great in that he gave to the world a code of laws unequaled in the world's history.

3. He was great as a general in that he liberated the Israelitish nation from the oppression of the greatest nation of the earth.

4. He was great because he led two or three million Israelites through the desert for forty years.

5. He was great because he gave to us in the book of Deuteronomy three orations, which, according to the judgment of competent critics, stand at the head of the world's literature.

We should seek to make our lives straight and true, and healthful, and beautiful, because that is what they were meant to be.

John Ellis Manley, general secretary of the Pittsburgh Young Men's Christian Association has been appointed General Secretary of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. In the 63 years since the office was established, the position has been held by only three men, Richard C. Morse, Dr. John R. Mott and Fred Ramsey.

A recent report states that Carveth Wells, explorer, has made motion pictures of a supposed piece of Noah's Ark. It is concealed in an ancient Armenian church in the tiny village of Echmiazin on the border of Turkey and Armenia. The Bishop who guards it says that a legend among the people relates that the angels had deposited it in the church in the fourth century, taking pity on the monks, many of whom had lost their lives seeking to scale Mt. Ararat to find it.

A new course will be offered at Syracuse university this fall known as the "Bible, Religion and Democracy" and will be under the supervision of Professor Ismar J. Peritz. Professor Peritz says that American democracy found its originating source in religion, with the Bible playing a leading part.

In a questionnaire sent out to all the leading radio stations asking for the favorite religious song, "The Old Rugged Cross" was accorded first place in the list of special requests. It has been distributed in more homes on phonograph records than any other religious song ever recorded.

In its annual statistical review recently made public, the Presbyterian church in America shows an encouraging advance. The total communicant members number 2,009,875 with a net increase in membership of 10,744. Sunday school members total 1,624,402, an increase of 3,906. The Pittsburgh Presbytery ranks first with a membership of 68,111. The first Presbyterian church of Seattle, ranks first in individual membership, having 8,376 communicants. The Immanuel church of Los Angeles, comes second with a membership of 4,408.

How may pictures be used helpfully in the Sunday school?

The use of pictures has an educational value to clarify the lesson taught, to photograph people and historic incidents and to visualize motives and ideals. Small prints for handwork, large prints for class room discussion, with a teacher skilled for their use, is a combination that will hold attention, win respect and strengthen pupils in Christian living and belief.

A second purpose of art is for devotion, inspiration and worship. Mural decoration, alter piece, stained glass windows, paintings-all lift the soul of God. Free from dogma and theology, innocent of school, nationality or age, with subdued technique, such pictures make an immediate appeal to the heart.

A third use for pictures is in propaganda on festivaldays such as Christmas, Easter, Children's Day, Rally Day, etc., Stereoptican slides, anthems, solos, organ interludes will bring church and school together as one family, heartening the social life, visualizing the objective of the festival day and strengthening and beautifying public worship.

MY CHURCH

Dr. Ozora Davis has said the following regarding the church:

"Here, through beautiful services, I come close to God and to my human comrades in worship.

Here in many ways I learn truths by which I may live a brave, happy and useful life.

Here I gain strength by which I become that which I have learned I ought to be.

Here I find comfort in my sorrow, courage in my struggle, joy in my victories.

Here I come into union with Christ, my Master and Friend."

A visitor to Europe tells of a very interesting custom she found in one of the villages. The church has no lighting arrangement, so the people carry little bronze lamps to church and attach them to fixtures on the pews. Naturally the more people the more light. Where there were absentees there were dark spots. Our churches have lighting fixtures, so we need not carry our lamps with us. But it stills remains true as Jesus said, "Ye are the light of the world." Are we fulfilling our mission? Do we go to church, or is there a dark spot where we should be? A light shines not for itself but for others. Go to church tomorrow, be a light in this world's darkness. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

SELF DEFEAT

"Doctor," said a despondent young man, "I am going to give up. I am a failure. If I only had money or special talent of some kind, I think I could succeed at something, but as it is I am handicapped."

"Are you well?" asked the doctor. "As far as I know" was the reply.

"Do you have all your faculties unimpaired?" Certainly" said the young man.

At the earnest request of the doctor, the lad went with him to visit some of his patients, the first was a girl having a spinal disease, with no control of her muscles and in constant pain. She was writing a letter on a typewriter, striking the key tipped with a rubber gnob.

At the second home was seen a blind boy weaving a beautiful rug. The boy was smiling as he worked.

At the third place, the young man saw an epileptic setting type for advertisements and at the the same time teaching other epileptics the work. He smiled as he worked.

When these visits had ended, the doctor injured, "Young man, are you not ashamed with your mental and physical soundness to say that you are handicapped in the race of life?

The youth went back to his home, ashamed, but determined to make the most of his many endowments.

Lesson for September 25

REVIEW: MOSES HONORED IN HIS DEATH

GOLDEN TEXT—Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 32: 48-52; 34:5-8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Moses Goes to Live With God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Death of a Great Leader.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What We May Learn From the Life of Moses.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC — What the World Owes Moses.

I. Moses Debarred From Canaan (32:48-52).

This act of God strikingly displays the tragedy of an unfinished task. Moses was loyal to God and faithfully served him through a long life. Though his "eye was not dimmed nor his natural force abated," he was obliged to leave his work unfinished. This is true of all of us. However, the tragedy is only apparent. Life is a probation. The question is not of finished tasks, but fidelity in service and growth in divine grace.

1. The reason for (v. 51). It was sin. The nature of this sin is given in Numbers 20:1-13. It was his failure to sanctify the Lord at Meribah. This penalty, while severe, was not too severe, for the righteousness of God demands the meting out of penalty upon every transgression. This was too glaring a sin for the Lord to pass over, though Moses had served him faithfully for many years.

2. God's treatment of Moses (vv. 49, 50). While it was severe, it was yet most tender. It was in keeping with God's nature. While God cannot pass over sin, he is always as gracious as his justice will permit. He appointed the place of Moses' death on the mount of vision. Moses was gathered "unto his people" showing that God was still his God, for God is not only the God of the dead, but of the living.

II. Moses Views the Promised Land from Mount Pisgah (34:1-4).

At the Lord's bidding Moses ascended the mountain of Nebo from which he got a view of the promised land. He obeyed though he knew that he was to die there (32:50). He greatly desired to go into the land (3:25), but submitted to the will of the Lord. Though he was not permitted to enter the land, God gave him a view of the fullest dimensions of the land which was to be the inheritance of the people he had delivered and led for 40 years. While Moses suffered this severe penalty, we should remember that his salvation was not affected. He was debarred from entrance to the land at that time, but we see him in the land some fifteen centuries later in a state of glory discoursing with Christ on the loftiest theme of the universe: namely, the death which he would accomplish at Jerusalem. (Matt. 17:1-5); Luke 9:28-31).

III. The Death and Burial of Moses (34:5-8).

1. His death (v. 5). Though he died in the vigor of manhood, his work was done. God put him into the world for a purpose and as soon as that work was done he called him home. It is stated in verse five that he died according to the word of the Lord.

2. The burial of Moses (v. 8). God buried him. Moses had no human help or sympathy in his dying hour, but he had something better. The Lord was with him. His grave was concealed to prevent his people from making it a shrine.

3. The time of mourning for Moses (v. 8). They mourned for thirty days. It was customary to mourn for the dead from seven to seventy days. It is not wrong to lay away earthly friends even with tears, but as Christians we should not mourn as those who have no hope.

IV. An Encomium Upon Moses (34:10-12).

In this eulogy Moses is given a place at the head of the Old Testament prophets. With the exception of the greater prophet (Deut. 18:15-18) of whom Moses was a type, he stands as the greatest prophet of Israel.

1. Because of his intimacy with God (v. 10). "Whom the Lord knew face to face."

2. He was great in that he gave to the world a code of laws unequaled in the world's history.

3. He was great as a general in that he liberated the Israelitish nation from the oppression of the greatest nation of the earth.

4. He was great because he led two or three million Israelites through the desert for forty years.

5. He was great because he gave to us in the book of Deuteronomy three orations, which, according to the judgment of competent critics, stand at the head of the world's literature.

We should seek to make our lives straight and true, and healthful, and beautiful, because that is what they were meant to be.

World Religious News

John Ellis Manley, general secretary of the Pittsburgh Young Men's Christian Association has been appointed General Secretary of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. In the 63 years since the office was established, the position has been held by only three men, Richard C. Morse, Dr. John R. Mott and Fred Ramsey.

A recent report states that Carveth Wells, explorer, has made motion pictures of a supposed piece of Noah's Ark. It is concealed in an ancient Armenian church in the tiny village of Echmiazin on the border of Turkey and Armenia. The Bishop who guards it says that a legend among the people relates that the angels had deposited it in the church in the fourth century, taking pity on the monks, many of whom had lost their lives seeking to scale Mt. Ararat to find it.

A new course will be offered at Syracuse university this fall known as the "Bible, Religion and Democracy" and will be under the supervision of Professor Ismar J. Peritz. Professor Peritz says that American democracy found its originating source in religion, with the Bible playing a leading part.

In a questionnaire sent out to all the leading radio stations asking for the favorite religious song, "The Old Rugged Cross" was accorded first place in the list of special requests. It has been distributed in more homes on phonograph records than any other religious song ever recorded.

In its annual statistical review recently made public, the Presbyterian church in America shows an encouraging advance. The total communicant members number 2,009,875 with a net increase in membership of 10,744. Sunday school members total 1,624,402, an increase of 3,906. The Pittsburgh Presbytery ranks first with a membership of 68,111. The first Presbyterian church of Seattle, ranks first in individual membership, having 8,376 communicants. The Immanuel church of Los Angeles, comes second with a membership of 4,408.

Church Forum

How may pictures be used helpfully in the Sunday school?

The use of pictures has an educational value to clarify the lesson taught, to photograph people and historic incidents and to visualize motives and ideals. Small prints for handwork, large prints for class room discussion, with a teacher skilled for their use, is a combination that will hold attention, win respect and strengthen pupils in Christian living and belief.

A second purpose of art is for devotion, inspiration and worship. Mural decoration, alter piece, stained glass windows, paintings all lift the soul of God. Free from dogma and theology, innocent of school, nationality or age, with subdued technique, such pictures make an immediate appeal to the heart.

A third use for pictures is in propaganda on festivaldays such as Christmas, Easter, Children's Day, Rally Day, etc., Stereoptican slides, anthems, solos, organ interludes will bring church and school together as one family, heartening the social life, visualizing the objective of the festival day and strengthening and beautifying public worship.

Tigers Win "Moral" Victory Over Lancaster

Neither School Dents Goalline

Outplaying Lancaster high school's varsity grid team in the last half of the game Friday evening after taking the ball from the Fairfielders on downs on the six-inch line late in the second period, Coach Pete Herberholz' Red and Black gridders opened their season with a 0-0 score. The game was played at North field, Lancaster, and the crowd which saw it was estimated at upward of 1,500. Five hundred Circleville fans were there.

Although they failed to cross the goal line the Tigers can well consider the contest a 'moral' victory for to have mentioned a tie game before the contest started would have resulted in the emission of a series of 'Bronx' cheers.

USE NO SUBS

Coach Herberholz went through the entire game without a substitution while Lancaster used four extra men. The squad came through the scrap in good shape with only minor bruises and bumps experienced although the entire team was plenty tired when the final gun cracked.

With this game out of the way Coach Herberholz, and Charlie Hax, new English teacher, who has been helping him, know what to expect out of the athletes and know what departments need more work than others.

Lancaster started the game as though it meant business. After Gaines Hill, acting captain, won the toss and chose to receive White was forced to punt and rooted the ball to Lancaster's 24-yard stripe out of bounds. When Bill Hegele tossed the Lancaster quarterback for a 12-yard loss it was thought advisable to kick and Charlie Davis was downed on his 43-yard mark.

White again kicked after failing to make any ground and Thomas, Lancaster safety man, broke loose for a return of 20 yards to his 37-yard line. Thomas made a yard in toting the ball out of bounds and LaFever crashed center on a delayed buch for a first down putting the ball practically in midfield.

On three plays LaFever again scored a first down taking the ball to the Circleville 30-yard mark and after Capt. Hill had called for time out LeFever again made first down in three plays. The ball was on the 20.

LaFever got two, then one and White came up fast to throw Thomas for a two yard loss on a sweeping end run. White then went back to ground a pass near the goal-line and Circleville took the ball on the 17 mark.

White again punted to midfield and when they failed to gain LaFever punted beautifully to Davis who was downed on the five yard line. Charlie didn't look so hot on this play trying to pick the ball off the ground with several Lancaster men near him. He nearly lost it.

The quarter ended before a play could be tried.

HALTED ON GOAL

White immediately punted and when he was smacked by Mills after the ball had gone, Lancaster was penalized five yards. Gains Hill broke between his left guard and tackle and made 12 yards for the initial Tiger first down. Davis lost two and White's quick kick was not much good going out of bounds on the Circleville 34 mark.

Then came the "Stand of the Tiger." LeFever cracked center for six then made three but on the next play White covered a fumble for Circleville on the 23 yard mark. Davis got two and Abdullah who replaced Thomas gained 18 yards on a punt. A Lancaster reverse scored two yards and Abdullah broke off right tackle for a first down. Three plays gained but little and after two Circleville men had hit a pass attempt it dropped into the hands of Snyder for a first down on the 16 yard line. Abdullah got one and another pass to Snyder gained seven.

LaFever made a fist down on the Tiger 8-yard line. He gained two then was smeared by the center of the Tiger line. Adullah sneaked the ball to the 1-2 yard mark and when the line refused to budge the Red and Black took the ball.

The half then ended.

WALLICE THROUGH

The Tigers displayed a nice offense in the last half but after progressing to the 17 yard line partly through a blocked punt by Pinky Wallace they were unable to score when a pass to Hegele went awry.

The third period was a punting duel with White holding his own against LaFever, although the latter once uncorked a quick kick which changed the complexion of matters. The period ended with the ball in midfield in Lancaster's possession.

Two plays and a pass failed and when LaFever tried to punt Wallace smashed the ball to the ground and although LaFever recovered the leather reverted to Circleville because of the fourth down. The ball was on the Lancaster 40-yard mark. Hill got two and Bill Hegele leaped high into the air for a pass good for 14 yards. Hill smacked for five and then was stopped cold. White gained four and Hill drove through center for a first down on the 15 yard line.

White was stopped and so was Hill before Hegele nearly pulled down a snap pass that might have meant yards. Wallace, the only time during the evening got his play mixed, and passed badly to Hill who recovered the ball which reverted to Lancaster on the 25 yard mark.

ALL GET PRAISE

That ended the threat of either team. Desperately passing with only a few minutes to play, neither team gained any ground although the ball changed hands several times through interception.

The game ended with Lancaster having the ball on its own 45 yard line.

The entire Tiger team deserved much praise for the showing made Friday evening. A new fight seems to dominate the squad and with such a spirit as they now have prevailing the local gridders should go a long way in the Central Buckeye league scramble this year.

Paul Hawkins, Lancaster's flashy colored quarterback, was not in the game because of torn ligaments in his right leg.

A technicality arose before the game started when Coach Herberholz protested the use of Ted Sawyer as an official. On the list of officials sent to E. I. Gephart by Lancaster school authorities Sawyer was refused as an official but when the teams appeared on the field Sawyer was there. Herberholz protested because of the 'terrible' basketball game Sawyer officiated here last year and as a result the man was not used.

LANCASTER GAME SIDE-LIGHTS

Circleville's representation at the game was over 500, according to one observer. The local high school athletic association scored a victory financially as it received 50 percent of the proceeds from tickets sold here and also one-fourth of the gate receipts at Lancaster.

The new uniforms of the Tigers were plenty hot! Black pants with a large red stripe coming up the back and white jerseys with black letters. The Lancasterites were clad in purple and gold.

Charles F. Hax, local high school instructor, acted the part of assistant coach and time-keeper.

Dean White, quarterback, received the opening kick-off, returning the ball about 12 yards.

Fred Grant and Bill Copeland, Red and Black cheer-leaders, had a tough time leading the noise. A crowd of Lancaster followers were mixed in the Red and Black audience and the former generally added their "boos" to a yell for the Tigers.

Supt. J. O. Eagleson was well-pleased with the outcome of the game. "Well, we'll certainly expect more from the team, after tonight's showing," he said.

Circleville's band under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein and drum-majorship of Bob Wilson "knocked em' cold" when it paraded onto the grounds at the opening of the game. Even Lancaster fans gave it a loud hand.

Circleville's future opponenent, Westerville, coming here as a Pumpkin Show special, Friday, Oct. 7, was humiliated by Upper Arlington Friday afternoon. The score was 40 to 0.

The game started at 8:05 p. m. and the first quarter concluded at 8:28.

Lancaster American Legion members acted as policemen at the game.

The Circleville band broke out with the high school song, "Red and Black" at the end of the first quarter and student body, alma mater and in fact all followers of Circleville and some of the Fairfield-co city arose to their feet.

Lancaster advanced the ball as far as the four-yard line in the second quarter, but that Tiger defense held and no goal was scored.

The half ended at 8:45 p. m.

The Red and Black band put on a nice parade during half-time. For some reason or the other, the Lancaster band didn't leave their seats. We can't say which was the better team, Lancaster or Circleville, but we do know Circleville's band beat 'em to pieces.

Capt. Gaines Hill had his new white jersey torn from his back during the third quarter. Coach Herberholz replenished him with another and the game continued.

Lancaster suffered its greatest penalty during the third quarter when the referee called 'em for illegal use of hands. The ball was taken back 15 yards .

Did you see Circleville's water boy? He, too, was plenty hot! Norman Coleman is his name. He's a close follower of the Tigers. So close that he rode to the game in a rumble seat in order to be there. He wore a black sweater with bright red letters—WATER BOY—C. H. S.

The game was played under 65,000 candle-power lites. The field was in excellent condition, no finer football weather could have been granted, and the Red and Black team pleased everybody.

BATTLE SEEN AS SPARTANS MEET GIANTS

Dutch Clark and Shipwreck Kelley To Vie For Professional Honors.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 24.—Bring on the Giants! That is the cry of Portsmouth's fighting Spartans, shareholders in claims for the 1931 championship in National Football League circles—a band of 22 huskies who are known throughout the post graduate grid loop as, "The team with the College Spirit."

Portsmouth will play the New York Giants at Universal Stadium here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Joe Carr, League president, as well as football fans from all over the Tri-state region have been waiting for weeks to witness this lid lifter of National League football in Ohio.

To match Giant headliners like Red Cagle, Hodge Workman, Shipwreck Kelley and Tiny Feather, Clark says his combination of Glenn Presnell, the one-man Nebraska team that licked Rockne's Four Horsemen; Father Lumpkin; Dutch Clark and Gene Alford will have no apologies to make. Cagle, Workman and Feather are well known in professional circles but many mysterious rumors continue to float around concerning the handsome Mr. Kelley who answers more often to the name of "Shipwreck." Though sectionally famous as the fastest back in the Southern Conference, while at Kentucky U., Kelley has next Sunday to make good his claim for national honors and Coach Owens says he'll do it. Kelley lives at Springfield, Ky.

ASHVILLE LOSES TO WAVERLY TEAM

Coach Al Kauber's Ashville gridiron machine lost a 32-0 decision at Waverly Friday afternoon in the first game of the season for both schools.

Kauber has an extremely green team this year, only three of his athletes being members of the last year's team. Graham, little signal-barking halfback was the mainstay of the up-county team.

Four of Waverly's touchdowns came in the first half.

Next Friday the first home game will be played against Bremen.

WASHINGTON WINS

Rallying in the last half of the seventh inning to score eight runs, Washington-twp's baseball team turned back Pickaway-twp by a score of 15-14. The game was played on Washington's field.

Pickaway-twp had a lead of 14-7 starting the final frame but Washington-twp got hot and counted eight markers. Coach Carpenter's boys had eight errors while Washington had only one.

The winner's pitcher, Valentine, cracked out a triple, double and single while Harral, Pickaway second baseman, had four singles and three runs in four strolls to the platter.

Estel, Newhouse and Dunkle formed the losing battery and Valentine and Beavers went the whole way for Washington.

G. Leist and Rhoads hit home runs and E. Leist and Newhouse hit doubles besides the extra base hits already recorded.

first of all on the definition of certain problems of government."

He was bringing to Southern California what he said, "I must politely term the failure or the inability of the other side to join issues: but you cannot debate with only one man on the platform." Early in his campaign, Governor Roosevelt announced he would debate the issues only with "the distinguished gentleman who is running against me."

In California he has alleged that his opponent has declined to debate the issues. In this respect, Gov. Roosevelt took exactly the same position which Alfred E. Smith took in the 1928 campaign.

With William G. McAdoo sitting on the platform in San Francisco, and applauding, Gov. Roosevelt recalled to Californians his part in the Democratic national convention of 1928 there in "behalf of the nomination of a great citizen and a great governor, Alfred E Smith."

EVADES SPLIT

Through these measures Governor Roosevelt was advised today he had walked into a difficult Democratic factional situation and had emerged from it without the harmful effect which attended the visit of Charles Evans Hughes to California in the historic campaign of 1916. His efforts in California were directed along the lines of healing the wounds occasioned by the triangular contest in the presidential preference primary.

Beginning at Santa Barbara this morning he was accorded a welcome which he considered to be flattering to him.

AID CLEVELAND

The $470,000 item represents the purchase of relief bonds issued by the city of Cleveland which it was unable to market. No action was taken on the application of Toledo for $556,000 of bonds for the city which it desired to have purchased by the R. F. C.

FATHER CONFESSES SLAYING HIS SON

LANCASTER, Wis., Sept. 24— Because his eight-year-old son, Martin, was feeble minded, William Keehner, Hickory Grove farmer, beat the child to death with a stone, he confessed today, according to police.

The boy's body was buried by his father in a shallow grave in a gully, authorities said. The remains were found by the sheriff who was directed to the grave by the farmer.

"The boy was incurable and I thought he would be better off dead," Keehner was quoted as telling police, "I tried to get him into an institution, but failed.

"I hit Martin from behind with a stone. He fell unconscious and I hit him again."

ST. LOUIS—One of the largest checks ever drawn in St. Louis was one for $3,103,807.82 which was issued by the city recently for the payment of damages to property owners resulting from the widening of Market Street, one of the city's main thoroughfares.

HANDLING WELFARE PROBLEM TO BE VIEWED AT CONFERENCE

The world-wide depression goes on unabated. While rumors of slight improvement in the employment situation in the U. S. trickle through the press occasionally, no substantial change has yet taken place in the situation. Millions of families are still at the mercy of public or private charity for their daily needs. The coming winter promises to be one of extreme suffering on the part of hundreds of thousands of families in the state of Ohio.

The welfare workers of this state face a double challenge; a challenge to their humanity to relieve in every way possible the suffering of their fellow citizens, and a challenge to their intelligence to spend every dollar of relief money as wisely as it can be spent.

At the forty-second annual meeting of the Ohio Welfare Conference, which will be held in Columbus, October 4th to 7th, the emergency relief problems of the depression will receive the major attention. Facts concerning the situation will be presented from many section of the state, and thorough discussion of ways and means of meeting the problems will follow. The ablest leaders in Ohio have been secured to guide our thinking at this Conference. In addition to the Ohio leadership, men and women of national reputation in various welfare lines will be in attendance from outside the state.

Nearly a thousand social workers, coming from every county in the state, will attend this Conference. The Conference is divided into seven main divisions, each of which will hold several sessions. The divisions deal with problems of family relief, adult dependency, child welfare, delinquency, health, community organization, industry and economics. In addition to the regular divisions of the Conference, nineteen state-wide kindred groups will hold from one to three sessions each. Every type of welfare work done in Pickaway-co will receive consideration at one or more of the various sessions.

Part of Her Variety

SOME commentator has said that had Cleopatra's nose been somewhat longer the entire face of the world would have been changed, the implication being that an inch more of proboscis would have marred her fatal beauty to such an extent that Caesar and Antony would have done little warring because of her. Now, the world being as it is, the head of the department of English of Princeton University "Antony and Cleopatra" states seeing the beautiful queen hop 40 paces along the street.

Perhaps it was just part of her varied activities. Another character in the same play, commending on her, says:

Age cannot wither her,
Nor custom stale her infinite variety.

The professor is puzzled about the hopping because Shakespeare took much of the material for his play from Plutarch's Lives and Plutarch makes no mention of the Egyptian having any habit of hopping. However, he does cite an instance to prove she was a practical joker and indulged in one at the expense of Antony. The latter wishing to show off as an angler, had some ill-luck. They just were not biting, so he had a diver attach a fish to his hook and pulled it up. Cleopatra, on the bank, observed the deception and when Antony went to fish the next day she had one of her divers attach a salt fish to the Roman warrior's hook. Thinking he had a real "bite" he pulled up, providing Cleopatra with a laugh. Charman refers to the incident in "Antony and Cleopatra" but no details are given.

As to the hopping not all the bard used was from Plutarch. Cleopatra, in her lighter moods, may have been dancing along the street. The action might have been described as hopping by one irreverent observer and another might have said she was prancing. Anyway, it did not change the face of the world, where as a longer nose on her face might have done so.

Promise or Manace

THE head of a great American chemical manufacturing concern predicts the end of all disease in 50 years. He included the dread cancer within the scope of his prophecy, which he bases on the progress now being made in chemical science.

The prediction does not come within the realm of the impossible. In fact, many unversed in chemistry or medicine have long been confident that mankind would soon conquer the last of its disease enemies. This confidence has been strengthened and rewarded by the progress made in the battle against tuberculosis and the virtual elimination of diseases epidemics in the United States.

Chemicals have long been employed effectively in the destruction of the enemies of vegetable life. Why should they not be as effective against the germs which prey upon human life? Already chemistry and surgery have made great headway against disease.

But what will it avail chemical science if it frees humanity from the menace of disease only to destroy mumanity with poision gases, devastating evplosives and other fiendish munitions of war? Some of the very chemical formulas devised to rid mankind of its invisible enemy—disease—are more invisible and a thousand times more deadly to man than the germs for the eradication of which they are intended.

Upon chemistry is civilization dependent in great part of its future happiness and welfare. Chemical research must not be interrupted nor restricted. There is no menace to man in the advance of chemical science. The menace is the use to which man puts his chemical knowledge. The world must see to it that this knowledge is employed for the protection of man not for his destruction.

War and Democracy

MILLIONS of Americans fought and invested their dollars and labor in the World war in the belief that it was a war to make the world safe for democracy. Many of them still believe it, but no one is optimistic enough to call it a victory for democracy.

The democratic form of government is certainly no more prevalent criticize their own governments without risking liberty, if not life itself. This form of tyranny exists in some of these countries whose political leaders would have the outside world believe they are enjoying all the beatitudes of a democratic government.

No one believes the Russians are more self-governing today than they were under the rule of the czars. France is ruled by the politicians. Turkey, Italy and Lithuania have one-man governments. Germany, Finland, Estonia and Latvia are making progress toward popular government, but one is a little skeptical of Czechoslovakia, Jugoslovia, Greece and Rumania. It is quite plain that the war did not make Europe safe for popular government.

After all, wasn't it a mistake to look at war to make the world safe for democracy? War is never conducive to democracy. About the first thing any country does in time of war is to abolish free speech and freedom of the press, centralize power in the hands of a few men who must be implicitly obeyed and who hypnotize the people, through propaganda and patriotic orations, into surrendering what powers they already possess.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVICI-FRIEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at three o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went riding, alone, on the Motor Parkway. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The Commissioner telephotos a picture of a young man, named Basil, found on Lola's dresser, to the Paris Prefect of Police requesting that he identify it and investigate Lola's past. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edgar, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths. A strap picked up in Lola's room presents mute evidence of having caused the bruise on Christine's neck — after death. Everett confesses he lied about riding on the Motor Parkway. He states Christine told him she had found out a plot to murder Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge, adding that Dr. Baldwin was involved.

"Macy sends on the report about Lola Carewe's hybrid past," continued Colt.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

"AND Eunice James?"

"Just a little German girl from Staten Island. I think she is in love with Guy Everett."

"Quite likely," smiled Colt. "Now what have you got about Lola?"

Flynn pulled a sheaf of papers from a side pocket.

"Plenty," he answered, "but what does it mean? By working here, and telegraphing Hollywood, we have interviewed three of her former leading men, one producer, a costumer, and a scenario writer who was in love with her. Also a dozen wealthy men she was friendly with here in New York. None of them will say very much. If I were to make a guess, I would say that Lola had something on them all."

"And you would be right!" smiled Colt. "What about her arrival in this country?"

"Got that, too. Of course the records were all locked up, but those Department of Justice boys can get pretty nearly anything they want. Lola came to this country alone about twelve years ago—here are the records!"

Colt studied the transcript of the State Department records with absorbed interest. Then he tucked them in his pocket.

"And about Christine?" he went on.

"Her brother and his wife are leading citizens of Rochester. Their reputation is first rate. They did leave on the train for New York—but so far they haven't reached here."

"Unless they arrived before the crimes," murmured Colt.

"There's always that," asserted Flynn, closing one eye. "As for Vincent Rowland, he went home, went to bed, and from all accounts is at this minute sound asleep."

"Sensible man!" sighed Colt. "What report did you get on Doctor Baldwin?"

"The worst of all," revealed Inspector Flynn heavily. "He spent the rest of his night at his office. Hasn't gone home yet. The bellboys at their apartment house say he and his wife quarrel frequently —over money and Lola Carewe. People in the next apartment say the same thing. They say the wife is a good woman and all that—but fat and jealous! And that's bad!"

Colt nodded his entire concurrence, as he lit his pipe and shuffled the typed reports into a drawer.

"What about the bottle and the writing paper that you found under the mattress?" he asked.

Flynn shrugged his shoulders.

"No finger-prints on any of it," he growled. "Looks to me like we're dealing with a professional."

"Or with a smart amateur," amended Colt, as he turned to another pile of papers beside him. "Here are the cables from Scotland Yard."

"Macy sends on the report about Lola Carewe's hybrid past," continued Colt, reading hastily. "Started life as a London working girl. Once arrested for a fight with another girl in the millinery shop in Soho where she was employed. Then disappeared. Reappeared along the Riviera as a dancing girl. Waltz of her own invention called 'The Scorpion'!"

Colt looked over at me and chuckled. My chief loves the whimsical, the odd and the extravagant in all the affairs of life. He could not hide his pleasure in this picturesque detail.

Quickly he shuffled through the other reports lying there—the official statements of the department chemists and the Assistant Medical Examiner, and a message from Fallon, left in charge of the penthouse, stating that all was quiet. Colt was about to pass on, when a telephone rang. The operator warned us that we would presently receive a call from M. Dupont in Paris.

"Thank God—the old boy works fast," exulted Colt aloud.

"You are banking on Lola Carewe's past as the key to the whole thing?"

"I am, Tony—it seems logical to me that, one way or another, the more we learn of Lola, the nearer we come to the killer of herself and Christine."

"And this Basil?"

Again the telephone rang. The connection was complete; M. Dupont was ready to speak with M. Colt. The great French police detective came directly to the point. He had taken the portrait, conveyed to him by the telephotographic service, and shown it to Grandon, the photographer, in the Avenue D'Iena. After some search, the picture was identified — and here the under-oceanic voice of M. Dupont became tense with excitement.

"It is Basil Boucher, mon cher ami—Basil Boucher, and no other —when I heard that name I was tremendously excited. For I remembered the name—a cause célèbre—here in Paris."

"I'm all attention, M. le Prefect!"

"Ah, well! Basil Boucher was an honest young bank clerk of very respectable parents. Then one day he met a dancer Her name was Lola—I know no other. In my city she had left behind her a sordid trail of ruined men. Basil Boucher loved her. He promised her a ruby if she would love him. To get the money—he robbed the bank. We came to arrest him—he had disappeared. Voilà!"

"My dear confrère, may I request another great favor from your kindness?"

"It is with pleasure that I cooperate."

"May I have by telephoto all the pictures of Basil Boucher and his family that you can find?"

"Avec plaisir——"

"Especially the carte d'identité pictures in your office."

"It shall be as you wish, M Colt!"

"A moment or two more, please ——"

"A thousand, if you wish them!

"What business did the Boucher family have?"

"The son, Basil, was a bank employee, a teller, do you say? The father had a little shop, where he sold specimens to medical laboratories. A malodorous business, M Colt!"

"Vraiment! Further, did you get word from Roumania?"

"Of a certainty, yes! They have no record of a M. Jorga. But they say it is a good old Roumanian name!"

"Thanks!"

Colt sat back with a smile.

"I knew it," he muttered. "I was sure of it!"

But he refused to explain what he meant, and a moment later the telephone rang again. Professor Luckner was calling.

"Good morning, Herr Commissioner!" rumbled the old biologist —as usual, I was making notes on an extension phone.

"Good morning, Herr Professor!"

"Herr Commissioner, the superiority of machines over night-sticks has again been demonstrated. You have made possible another triumph of the greatest of the detective weapons—the vacuum cleaner!"

"Which means?" prodded Colt, as the good-humored old professor paused for effect.

"I know what killed the young ladies—but I won't tell you. You will have to come and see for yourself."

"We'll be right up!" snapped Colt and jammed the receiver back on the hook.

You Can't Have Dandruff Unless You Are Civilized!

Primitive People Never Get This Scalp Disorder, but If You Get It, Don't Pat Yourself on the Back, but Take Pains Not To Lose Your Crop of Hair

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A T a public gathering the other evening a well-groomed person sat in front of me. In general he was immaculate in appearance, yet on the collar of his dark suit were tell-tale specks of dandruff. He was aware of his affliction, and occasionally brushed his collar.

Seborrheic dermatitis is the medical term for the familiar trouble called dandruff, one of the most common disorders of the scalp.

It is too bad that this ailment is so frequently neglected, because a bad case may lead to some serious disease of the hair and scalp. Loss of hair and baldness are believed by many authorities to be caused by an infection of the hair follicles, made possible by neglected and aggravated dandruff.

Causes of Dandruff

Dandruff is a disease of modern civilization, and is not found in primitive people. Although the cause has never been positively determined, it is believed to be due to an infection, and it is probable that it may be passed from one individual to another.

Dandruff occurs sometimes when the general health is poor. Lack of proper food, or use of food deficient in important vitamins and minerals, is an important factor. Lack of exercise and insufficient exposure of the hair to air and sunlight are possible causes that should be corrected.

Contrary to the popular belief, dandruff is not caused by frequent washing of the hair. Some hair requires frequent cleansing, while other hair seems to thrive without it. When the hair is oily it catches dust and dirt, and oily hair should be washed more frequently than dry hair.

If you have dandruff, remember that the best treatment is to keep the scalp clean and free from dandruff scales. The circulation of the blood of the scalp should be stimulated, for this will encourage the normal action of the sweat glands of the scalp.

The Thorough Shampoo

A thorough shampoo with tincture of green soap is useful. During the shampoo, vigorously massage the scalp with your fingers. An ointment prescribed by your physician should be rubbed into the scalp after the shampoo.

Avoid wearing tight hats. Whenever possible, expose the hair to the soothing and beneficial action of the sun. Use your own brush and comb, and do not lend them to others. The comb and brush should be washed at least once a week.

In addition to the scalp treatment, every effort should be made to improve the general health. A diet containing abundant quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables will be helpful.

If eczema, psoriasis or ringworm is present, special treatment is necessary before the dandruff can be cured. Let your doctor advise you.

The Daily Horoscope

Saturday, Sept. 24, 1932

This is read as a partly good and a partly adverse day, according to the astrologers, who claim it is unfavorable for sudden changes and plans, yet an aupicious time for study, or anything requiring deliberation.

During the greater part of the day until the middle of the afternoon, there will be a feeling of impatience and disinterest combined with high tension; promises will be made at random and sudden resolutions maybe made without any premediated plans. There will be a lack of diplomacy resulting in mental complications.

It is a good time foro neto make assertions as there will be a degree of courage among people enabling them to stand up for their rights. During this period the mind will be fired with desire yet a tendency to be impractical will exist.

During the late afternoon hours the mind should be better poised therefore one should take on an attitude of meditation since at this time the planets favor all activities requiring foresight and deliberation.

Transportation difficulties are predicted for Berlin, in addition to accidents and trouble. Newspaper articles may bring much agitation.

According to prophecy the World's depression should come to an end this year. The ending of the third and last wave of the depression is marked for November 20, 1932. It should be remembered, however, that it will take some crisis at this time has been declared off by the astrologers.

Children born on this day are usually straightforward and honest they are likely to act upon their own judgment, yet do not repel the advice of others.

John Marshall; American jurist, was born on this day. Among others who have celebrated it is a birthday include Horace Walpole, Earl of Oxford, Englishman of letters; Zachary Taylor, twelth president of the United States; Marcus A. Hanna, American statesman.

Sunday, Sept. 25, 1932

Benefic aspects govern today according to astrology. This is likely to be a happy day for those who move in social circles. New interest will be shown for the relief of the needy.

The vitality should be increased today, and this is an excellent time to visit the sick, who will be more hopeful and optimistic. Help should be extended to hospitals and charitable institutions for it is a good day to deal with wealthy people and ask for donations.

Under this sway it is an opportune time to ask for favors, but one should not act hastily. The best combination of planetry angles occurs in the morning while the principal vibrations are of a rather unfavorable nature in that to discriminate one may find little trouble today.

Persons whose birthdate it is, should postpone all important undertakings until after November 20th. At this date the seers prophesy they are to enter two years of favorable conditions, beginning with September 1933, to 1[illegible].

People born on the 21st of May and November will find this a beneficial day. Those born at this time in July and October should be on their guard.

Children born on this day usually come in for a sum of money very unexpectedly at about 22 years of age and when they reach the age of 28 they are likely to become quite well fixed.

Felicia (Dorthea) Hemans, English poet was born on this day, 1793. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Alfred Vail, 1807, inventor. Darius O. Mills, 1825, financier.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Although motion picture making is admittedly an industry—one of the five greatest—it is only by departing from the iron-bound rules of industry that the best results in film production are gained.

"Blondie of the Follies," Marion Davies' new starring picture with Robert Montgomery featured, serves to illustrate this point This new Cosmopolitan picture comes Sunday to the Cliftona Theatre.

In directing this comedy drama, Edmund Goulding, whose wizardry was exemplified in his direction of "Grand Hotel," saw new possibilities in enlarging the production as he went along, with the result that the supporting cast reflects the names of personalities not contemplated in the original scheme of things.

"Blondie of the Follies" was a veritable snowball in the matter of cast names, gaining in size and importance as filming progressed. To begin with, there were, besides Marion Davies, Robert Montgomery, Billie Dove, James Gleason, Zasu Pitts, Sidney Toler, Douglas Dumbrille, Sarah Padden and Louise Carter. That alone is a cast of impressive proportions.

ASHVILLE

The Past Chief's Club of the Ashville Pythian Sisters held its monthly meeting Thursday at the K. of P. Hall. A covered dish dinner was served at the noon hour. There was a good crowd and all had a fine time.

JACKSON-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

ENROLLMENT

Enrollment figures show that we have five fewer students in school this year than last year at the same time. Two hundred seventy-two children are enrolled to date.

Elizabeth Huston one of our last year's graduates is attending Capital University.

Janet Jones, of the Class of 1931, has returned to Western College at Oxford for her second year of college work.

Paul Holtzman, who graduated last year, is taking a business course at Bliss College, Columbus this year.

The following seniors have been chosen as class officers for the school year.

President, Rowa Melvin; Vice-President, Festus Walters; Secretary, Elizabeth Fischer; Treasurer, Gerald Major.

Rev. Morrison of Bloomfield conducted the opening chapel services of the school year last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Morrison talked to the lower grades.

JACKSON NINE BEATS WASHINGTON

The Fox boys finally snook off the jinx that Washington had cast for five years when they beat Washington 5-4.

It looked easy for a while when Jackson was leading 4-1.

Washington made a determined affair to pull the game out of the fire and succeeded in tying the score. In the next half of the inning the Walter brothers went to work and scored the winning run.

Nelson Walters slapped one out to the new building for two bases, and Festus, the big brother brought him home with a grounder past first.

F. Walters outpitched Valentine and errors contributed greatly to the scoring.

BEHIND SCENE IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Make way for a home-town boy. Joel McCrea, born and raised around Los Angeles, is about to ascend to the slippery throne of stardom.

The former Hollywood high school student will receive top billing in three R-K-O pictures this year. Studio officials have sent out word to find the proper vehicle to initiate him into the ranks of filmdom's elite.

Where another young man might feel exultant, Joel views his promotion with misgivings. Only the other day he told me that the idea of stardom frightens him. He has seen too many players come to grief through premature build-ups. A little more experience would be welcome to him before he takes the big step.

But R-K-O thinks differently. They have been watching him since he left the extra ranks to try his first real part in "The Silver Horde." Odd things about that part. Joel and his father had agreed that he would try the films for one year. If he showed no progress in that time, he would quit and go into business.

Three days before the year was out, Joel was signed for "The Silver Horde."

Recently, things has been breaking splendidly for him. He played opposite Dolores Del Rio in "The Bird of Paradise." He has fine roles in the unreleased "Sport Page" and "The Most Dangerous Game."

Now to find the right story for that all-important first starring picture. Any ideas, readers?

Latest one about the quickie companies is related by Lyle Talbot.

Several days ago, says Lyle, a certain actor was up for a part at one of the small studios. His agent called up for confirmation of the deal.

The casting director snapped: "Sorry, we can't use him. He doesn't fit the uniform."

BOULEVARD TOPICS.

Rumor has it that the McLaglen-Lowe picture at Fox will be a re-make of "What Price Glory?" That's another good reason why they are trying to sign Dolores Del Rio for the feminine lead... George Walsh, he-man hero of the early movie, will face the camera again in Fox's "Pier 13." Brother Raoul Walsh is directing...New contracts—a nice pat on the back these days—are being given to Helen Vinson and Sheila Terry, Warner starlets...Take it from Al Jolson, there are only two kinds of people in Mexico—those who wear shoes and those who shine them.

Thursday evening will see the Premiere of a new Hollywood dancing place—the Club New Yorker, situated in the famous old Christie Hotel. Among those in the revue will be Jean Milan, the Rocky twins and Julanne Johnson. Hal Waynes furnishes the music.

Constance Cummings and George Raft threaten to be wed any time now. She spent the whole morning on his set the other day. Cameramen snapped them in romantic poses...Ted Fiorito writes, seeking a slogan for his band. Who knows a good one?

Among the brighter spots over the week-end were the parties given by the Gordon Westcotts and Thompson Burtis. Diana Wynyard, the English actress who'll play a lead in "Cavalcade," was one of the guests of honor at the Westcott tea. She and Gordon played on Broadway together in "The Devil Passes." Later on she asked him to do a scene with her for a Paramount test. He got a contract. She didn't.

Feature of the Burtis party was some thrilling harmony on a pair of grand pianos. William Jordan

Part of Her Variety

SOME commentator has said that had Cleopatra's nose been somewhat longer the entire face of the world would have been changed, the implication being that an inch more of proboscis would have marred her fatal beauty to such an extent that Caesar and Antony would have done little warring because of her. Now, the world being as it is, the head of the department of English of Princeton University "Antony and Cleopatra" states seeing the beautiful queen hop 40 paces along the street.

Perhaps it was just part of her varied activities. Another character in the same play, commending on her, says:

Age cannot wither her,
Nor custom stale her infinite variety.

The professor is puzzled about the hopping because Shakespeare took much of the material for his play from Plutarch's Lives and Plutarch makes no mention of the Egyptian having any habit of hopping. However, he does cite an instance to prove she was a practical joker and indulged in one at the expense of Antony. The latter wishing to show off as an angler, had some ill-luck. They just were not biting, so he had a diver attach a fish to his hook and pulled it up. Cleopatra, on the bank, observed the deception and when Antony went to fish the next day she had one of her divers attach a salt fish to the Roman warrior's hook. Thinking he had a real "bite" he pulled up, providing Cleopatra with a laugh. Charman refers to the incident in "Antony and Cleopatra" but no details are given.

As to the hopping not all the bard used was from Plutarch. Cleopatra, in her lighter moods, may have been dancing along the street. The action might have been described as hopping by one irreverent observer and another might have said she was prancing. Anyway, it did not change the face of the world. where as a longer nose on her face might have done so.

Promise or Manace

THE head of a great American chemical manufacturing concern predicts the end of all disease in 50 years. He included the dread cancer within the scope of his prophecy, which he bases on the progress now being made in chemical science.

The prediction does not come within the realm of the impossible. In fact, many unversed in chemistry or medicine have long been confident that mankind would soon conquer the last of its disease enemies. This confidence has been strengthened and rewarded by the progress made in the battle against tuberculosis and the virtual elimination of diseases epidemics in the United States.

Chemicals have long been employed effectively in the destruction of the enemies of vegetable life. Why should they not be as effective against the germs which prey upon human life? Already chemistry and surgery have made great headway against disease.

But what will it avail chemical science if it frees humanity from the menace of disease only to destroy mumanity with poision gases, devastating explosives and other fiendish munitions of war? Some of the very chemical formulas devised to rid mankind of its invisible enemy—disease—are more invisible and a thousand times more deadly to man than the germs for the eradication of which they are intended.

Upon chemistry is civilization dependent in great part of its future happiness and welfare. Chemical research must not be interrupted nor restricted. There is no menace to man in the advance of chemical science. The menace is the use to which man puts his chemical knowledge. The world must see to it that this knowledge is employed for the protection of man not for his destruction.

War and Democracy

MILLIONS of Americans fought and invested their dollars and labor in the World war in the belief that it was a war to make the world safe for democracy. Many of them still believe it, but no one is optimistic enough to call it a victory for democracy.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVICI-FRIEDE INC. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at three o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went riding, alone, on the Motor Parkway. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The Commissioner telephotos a picture of a young man, named Basil, found on Lola's dresser, to the Paris Prefect of Police requesting that he identify it and investigate Lola's past. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edgar, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths. A strap picked up in Lola's room presents mute evidence of having caused the bruise on Christine's neck — after death. Everett confesses he lied about riding on the Motor Parkway. He states Christine told him she had found out a plot to murder Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge, adding that Dr. Baldwin was involved.

"Macy sends on the report about Lola Carewe's hybrid past," continued Colt.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

"AND Eunice James?"

"Just a little German girl from Staten Island. I think she is in love with Guy Everett."

"Quite likely," smiled Colt. "Now what have you got about Lola?"

Flynn pulled a sheaf of papers from a side pocket.

"Plenty," he answered, "but what does it mean? By working here, and telegraphing Hollywood, we have interviewed three of her former leading men, one producer, a costumer, and a scenario writer who was in love with her. Also a dozen wealthy men she was friendly with here in New York. None of them will say very much. If I were to make a guess, I would say that Lola had something on them all."

"And you would be right!" smiled Colt. "What about her arrival in this country?"

"Got that, too. Of course the records were all locked up, but those Department of Justice boys can get pretty nearly anything they want. Lola came to this country alone about twelve years ago—here are the records!"

Colt studied the transcript of the State Department records with absorbed interest. Then he tucked them in his pocket.

"And about Christine?" he went on.

"Her brother and his wife are leading citizens of Rochester. Their reputation is first rate. They did leave on the train for New York—but so far they haven't reached here."

"Unless they arrived before the crimes," murmured Colt.

"There's always that," asserted Flynn, closing one eye. "As for Vincent Rowland, he went home, went to bed, and from all accounts is at this minute sound asleep."

"Sensible man!" sighed Colt. "What report did you get on Doctor Baldwin?"

"The worst of all," revealed Inspector Flynn heavily. "He spent the rest of his night at his office. Hasn't gone home yet. The bellboys at their apartment house say he and his wife quarrel frequently—over money and Lola Carewe. People in the next apartment say the same thing. They say the wife is a good woman and all that—but fat and jealous! And that's bad!"

Colt nodded his entire concurrence, as he lit his pipe and shuffled the typed reports into a drawer.

"What about the bottle and the writing paper that you found under the mattress?" he asked.

Flynn shrugged his shoulders.

"No finger-prints on any of it," he growled. "Looks to me like we're dealing with a professional."

"Or with a smart amateur," amended Colt, as he turned to another pile of papers beside him. "Here are the cables from Scotland Yard."

"Macy sends on the report about Lola Carewe's hybrid past," continued Colt, reading hastily. "Started life as a London working girl. Once arrested for a fight with another girl in the millinery shop in Soho where she was employed. Then disappeared. Reappeared along the Riviera as a dancing girl. Waltz of her own invention called 'The Scorpion'!"

Colt looked over at me and chuckled. My chief loves the whimsical, the odd and the extravagant in all the affairs of life. He could not hide his pleasure in this picturesque detail.

Quickly he shuffled through the other reports lying there—the official statements of the department chemists and the Assistant Medical Examiner, and a message from Fallon, left in charge of the penthouse, stating that all was quiet. Colt was about to pass on, when a telephone rang. The operator warned us that we would presently receive a call from M. Dupont in Paris.

"Thank God—the old boy works fast," exulted Colt aloud.

"You are banking on Lola Carewe's past as the key to the whole thing?"

"I am, Tony—it seems logical to me that, one way or another, the more we learn of Lola, the nearer we come to the killer of herself and Christine."

"And this Basil?"

Again the telephone rang. The connection was complete: M. Dupont was ready to speak with M. Colt. The great French police detective came directly to the point. He had taken the portrait, conveyed to him by the telephotographic service, and shown it to Grandon, the photographer, in the Avenue D'Iena. After some search, the picture was identified—and here the under-oceanic voice of M. Dupont became tense with excitement.

"It is Basil Boucher, mon cher ami—Basil Boucher, and no other—when I heard that name I was tremendously excited. For I remembered the name—a cause célèbre here in Paris."

"I'm all attention, M. le Prefect!"

"Ah, well! Basil Boucher was an honest young bank clerk of very respectable parents. Then one day he met a dancer. Her name was Lola—I know no other. In my city she had left behind her a sordid trail of ruined men. Basil Boucher loved her. He promised her a ruby if she would love him. To get the money—he robbed the bank. We came to arrest him—he had disappeared. Voilà!"

"My dear confrère, may I request another great favor from your kindness?"

"It is with pleasure that I cooperate."

"May I have by telephoto all the pictures of Basil Boucher and his family that you can find?"

"Avec plaisir——"

"Especially the carte d'identité pictures in your office."

"It shall be as you wish, M. Colt!"

"A moment or two more, please——"

"A thousand, if you wish them!"

"What business did the Boucher family have?"

"The son, Basil, was a bank employee, a teller, do you say? The father had a little shop, where he sold specimens to medical laboratories. A malodorous business, M. Colt!"

"Vraiment! Further, did you get word from Roumania?"

"Of a certainty, yes! They have no record of a M. Jorga. But they say it is a good old Roumanian name!"

"Thanks!"

Colt sat back with a smile.

"I knew it," he muttered. "I was sure of it!"

But he refused to explain what he meant, and a moment later the telephone rang again. Professor Luckner was calling.

"Good morning, Herr Commissioner!" rumbled the old biologist—as usual, I was making notes on an extension phone.

"Good morning, Herr Professor!"

"Herr Commissioner, the superiority of machines over night-sticks has again been demonstrated. You have made possible another triumph of the greatest of the detective weapons—the vacuum cleaner!"

"Which means?" prodded Colt, as the good-humored old professor paused for effect.

"I know what killed the young ladies—but I won't tell you. You will have to come and see for yourself."

"We'll be right up!" snapped Colt and jammed the receiver back on the hook.

criticize their own governments without risking liberty, if not life itself. This form of tyranny exists in some of these countries whose political leaders would have the outside world believe they are enjoying all the beatitudes of a democratic government.

No one believes the Russians are more self-governing today than they were under the rule of the czars. France is ruled by the politicians. Turkey, Italy and Lithuania have one-man governments. Germany, Finland, Estonia and Latvia are making progress toward popular government, but one is a little skeptical of Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Greece and Rumania. It is quite plain that the war did not make Europe safe for popular government.

After all, wasn't it a mistake to look at war to make the world safe for democracy? War is never conducive to democracy. About the first thing any country does in time of war is to abolish free speech and freedom of the press, centralize power in the hands of a few men who must be implicitly obeyed and who hypnotize the people, through propaganda and patriotic orations, into surrendering what powers they already possess.

You Can't Have Dandruff Unless You Are Civilized!

Primitive People Never Get This Scalp Disorder, but If You Get It, Don't Pat Yourself on the Back, but Take Pains Not To Lose Your Crop of Hair

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

AT a public gathering the other evening a well-groomed person sat in front of me. In general he was immaculate in appearance, yet on the collar of his dark suit were tell-tale specks of dandruff. He was aware of his affliction, and occasionally brushed his collar.

Seborrheic dermatitis is the medical term for the familiar trouble called dandruff, one of the most common disorders of the scalp.

Dr. Copeland

It is too bad that this ailment is so frequently neglected, because a bad case may lead to some serious disease of the hair and scalp. Loss of hair and baldness are believed by many authorities to be caused by an infection of the hair follicles, made possible by neglected and aggravated dandruff.

Causes of Dandruff

Dandruff is a disease of modern civilization, and is not found in primitive people. Although the cause has never been positively determined, it is believed to be due to an infection, and it is probable that it may be passed from one individual to another.

Dandruff occurs sometimes when the general health is poor. Lack of proper food, or use of food deficient in important vitamins and minerals, is an important factor. Lack of exercise and insufficient exposure of the hair to air and sunlight are possible causes that should be corrected.

Contrary to the popular belief, dandruff is not caused by frequent washing of the hair. Some hair requires frequent cleansing, while other hair seems to thrive without it. When the hair is oily it catches dust and dirt, and oily hair should be washed more frequently than dry hair.

If you have dandruff, remember that the best treatment is to keep the scalp clean and free from dandruff scales. The circulation of the blood of the scalp should be stimulated, for this will encourage the normal action of the sweat glands of the scalp.

The Thorough Shampoo

A thorough shampoo with tincture of green soap is useful. During the shampoo, vigorously massage the scalp with your fingers. An ointment prescribed by your physician should be rubbed into the scalp after the shampoo.

Avoid wearing tight hats. Whenever possible, expose the hair to the soothing and beneficial action of the sun. Use your own brush and comb, and do not lend them to others. The comb and brush should be washed at least once a week.

In addition to the scalp treatment, every effort should be made to improve the general health. A diet containing abundant quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables will be helpful.

If general psoriasis or ringworm is present, special treatment is necessary before the dandruff can be cured. Let your doctor advise you.

The Daily Horoscope

Saturday, Sept. 24, 1932

This is read as a partly good and a partly adverse day, according to the astrologers, who claim it is unfavorable for sudden changes and plans, yet an auspicious time for study, or anything requiring deliberation.

During the greater part of the day until the middle of the afternoon, there will be a feeling of impulsiveness and disregard consequences, with high hopes, but there will be much of the low and sordid in the make-up of many people and all may not be as they appear. Be wary of diplomacy. Try to avoid it if you can.

It is a good time to promote matters of a business nature, and to interview people on matters of importance. Be careful in your dealings with others.

During the late afternoon there is a tendency to take too much for granted, and to act upon impulse rather than upon reason and sound judgment. Nevertheless, this is a fortunate day for those who are engaged in literary pursuits, or in the study of occultism and astrology.

Persons whose birthdate it is should [illegible] and [illegible] during the year. Those born on this day usually [illegible] and honest. They are likely to rely upon their own judgement, but do not reject the advice of others.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Although motion picture making is admittedly an industry—one of the five greatest—it is only by departing from the iron-bound rules of industry that the best results in film production are gained.

"Blondie of the Follies," Marion Davies' new starring picture with Robert Montgomery featured, serves to illustrate this point. This new Cosmopolitan picture comes Sunday to the Cliftona Theatre.

In directing this comedy drama, Edmund Goulding, whose wizardry was exemplified in his direction of "Grand Hotel," saw new possibilities in enlarging the production as he went along, with the result that the supporting cast reflects the names of personalities not contemplated in the original scheme of things.

"Blondie of the Follies" was a veritable snowball in the matter of cast names, gaining in size and importance as filming progressed. To begin with, there were, besides Marion Davies, Robert Montgomery, Billie Dove, James Gleason, Zasu Pitts, Sidney Toler, Douglas Dumbrille, Sarah Padden and Louise Carter. That alone is a cast of impressive proportions.

JACKSON-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

ENROLLMENT

Enrollment figures show that we have five fewer students in school this year than last year at the same time. Two hundred seventy-two children are enrolled to date.

Elizabeth Huston one of our last year's graduates is attending Capital University.

Janet Jones, of the Class of 1931, has returned to Western College at Oxford for her second year of college work.

Paul Holtzman, who graduated last year, is taking a business course at Bliss College, Columbus this year.

The following seniors have been chosen as class officers for the school year.

President, Rowa Melvin; Vice-President, Festus Walters; Secretary, Elizabeth Fischer; Treasurer, Gerald Major.

Rev. Morrison of Bloomfield conducted the opening chapel services of the school year last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Morrison talked to the lower grades.

JACKSON NINE BEATS WASHINGTON

The Fox boys finally shook off the jinx that Washington had cast for five years when they beat Washington 5-4.

It looked easy for a while when Jackson was leading 4-1.

Washington made a determined affair to pull the game out of the fire and succeeded in tying the score. In the next half of the inning the Walter brothers went to work and scored the winning run.

Nelson Walters slapped one out to the new building for two bases, and Festus, the big brother brought him home with a grounder past first.

F. Walters outpitched Valentine and errors contributed greatly to the scoring.

BEHIND SCENE IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Make way for a home-town boy. Joel McCrea, born and raised around Los Angeles, is about to ascend to the slippery throne of stardom.

The former Hollywood high school student will receive top billing in three R-K-O pictures this year. Studio officials have sent out word to find the proper vehicle to initiate him into the ranks of filmdom's elite.

Where another young man might feel exultant, Joel views his promotion with misgivings. Only the other day he told me that the idea of stardom frightens him. He has seen too many players come to grief through premature build-up. A little more experience would be welcome to him before he takes the big step.

But R-K-O thinks differently. They have been watching him since he left the extra ranks to try his first real part in "The Silver Horde." Odd things about that part. Joel and his father had agreed that he would try the films for one year. If he showed no progress in that time, he would quit and go into business.

Three days before the year was out, Joel was signed for "The Silver Horde."

Recently, things has been breaking splendidly for him. He played opposite Dolores Del Rio in "The Bird of Paradise." He has fine roles in the unreleased "Sport Page" and "The Most Dangerous Game."

Now to find the right story for that all-important first starring picture. Any ideas, readers?

Latest one about the quickie companies is related by Lyle Talbot.

Several days ago, says Lyle, a certain actor was up for a part at one of the small studios. His agent called for confirmation of the deal.

The casting director snapped: "Sorry, we can't use him. He doesn't fit the uniform."

BOULEVARD TOPICS.

Rumor has it that the McLaglen-Lowe picture at Fox will be a re-make of "What Price Glory?" That's another good reason why they are trying to sign Dolores Del Rio for the feminine lead... George Walsh, he-man hero of the early movie, will face the camera again in Fox's "Pier 13." Brother Raoul Walsh is directing ..New contracts a nice pat on the back these days—are being given to Sidney Vinson and Sheila Terry, Warner starlets ..Take it from Al Jolson there are only two kinds of people in Mexico—those who wear shoes and those who shine them.

Thursday evening will see the opening of a new Hollywood dancing place, the Club New Yorker, situated in the famous old Christie Hotel. Among those in the revue will be Jean Milan, the Rooky twins and Julanne Johnson. Hal Waynes furnishes the music.

Constance Cummings and George Raft threaten to be that way any time now. She spent the whole morning on his set the other day. Cameramen snapped them in romantic poses ..Ted Fiorito writes, seeking a slogan for his band. Who knows a good one?

Among the brighter spots over the week-end were the parties given by the Gordon Westcotts and Thompson Burtis. Diana Wynyard, the English actress who'll play a lead in "Cavalcade," was one of the guests of honor at the Westcott tea. She and Gordon played on Broadway together, in "The Devil Passes." Later on she asked him to do a scene with her for a Paramount test. He got a contract. She didn't.

Feature of the Burtis party was some thrilling harmony on a pair of grand pianos. William Jordan

NICE FRANCE— Americans who invested in French gambling properties on the Riviera within the past five years have taken a paper loss of a hundred million francs within the past six months according to a reliable report. With the absence of big money gamblers, the casino shares have dropped to practically nothing despite the new French law easing their taxation.

first of all on the definition of certain problems of government."

He was bringing to Southern California what he said, "I must politely term the failure or the inability of the other side to join issues: but you cannot debate with only one man on the platform." Early in his campaign, Governor Roosevelt announced he would debate the issues only with "the distinguished gentleman who is running against me."

In California he has alleged that his opponent has declined to debate the issues. In this respect, Gov. Roosevelt took exactly the same position which Alfred E. Smith took in the 1928 campaign.

With William G. McAdoo sitting on the platform in San Francisco, and applauding, Gov. Roosevelt recalled to Californians his part in the Democratic national convention of 1928 there in "behalf of the nomination of a great citizen and a great governor, Alfred E. Smith."

EVADES SPLIT

Through these measures Governor Roosevelt was advised today he had walked into a difficult Democratic factional situation and had emerged from it without the harmful effect which attended the visit of Charles Evans Hughes to California in the historic campaign of 1916. His efforts in California were directed along the lines of healing the wounds occasioned by the triangular contest in the presidential preference primary.

Beginning at Santa Barbara this morning he was accorded a welcome which he considered to be flattering to him.

AID CLEVELAND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. — Cleveland was granted a relief loan today by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation amounting to $2,807,000. Of this amount $470,000 was made available immediately and the balance $2,337,000 is to be paid in equal monthly installments during the remainder of the year.

The $470,000 item represents the purchase of relief bonds issued by the city of Cleveland which it was unable to market. No action was taken on the application of Toledo for $556,000 of bonds for the city which it desired to have purchased by the R. F. C.

$17.56 Added Here Since Friday Evening; Phone Company, D. A. R. Aid.

With $17.56 added to the Logan Elm fund here since Friday afternoon it was expected that when all receipts have been counted the fund will have reached the $900 mark sought by The Herald, the Ohio State Journal and the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette for rehabilitation of the tree.

The largest contribution made in Circleville except that of $25 of Miss Elizabeth J. Ruggles of Santa Monica, Cal., was received Saturday from employees of the Citizens Telephone Co. where the 'hat was passed' to all 37 employees. Each contributed something to make the fund $10.56.

Pickaway Plains chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, through Mrs. Bryce Briggs treasurer, contributed $5 to the fund and C. E. Hill of Williamsport, and David Herrmann of Chillicothe, father of Karl J. Herrmann, each contributed $1 to the fund.

FATHER CONFESSES SLAYING HIS SON

LANCASTER, Wis., Sept. 24— Because his eight-year-old son, Martin, was feeble minded, William Keehner, Hickory Grove farmer, beat the child to death with a stone, he confessed today, according to police.

The boy's body was buried by his father in a shallow grave in a gully, authorities said. The remains were found by the sheriff who was directed to the grave by the farmer.

"The boy was incurable and I thought he would be better off dead," Keehner was quoted as telling police, "I tried to get him into an institution, but failed.

"I hit Martin from behind with a stone. He fell unconscious and I hit him again."

ST. LOUIS—One of the largest checks ever drawn in St. Louis was one for $3,103,807.82 which was issued by the city recently for the payment of damages to property owners resulting from the widening of Market Street, one of the city's main thoroughfares.

HANDLING WELFARE PROBLEM TO BE VIEWED AT CONFERENCE

The world-wide depression goes on unabated. While rumors of slight improvement in the employment situation in the U. S. trickle through the press occasionally, no substantial change has yet taken place in the situation. Millions of families are still at the mercy of public or private charity for their daily needs. The coming winter promises to be one of extreme suffering on the part of hundreds of thousands of families in the state of Ohio.

The welfare workers of this state face a double challenge; a challenge to their humanity to relieve in every way possible the suffering of their fellow citizens, and a challenge to their intelligence to spend every dollar of relief money as wisely as it can be spent.

At the forty-second annual meeting of the Ohio Welfare Conference, which will be held in Columbus, October 4th to 7th, the emergency relief problems of the depression will receive the major attention. Facts concerning the situation will be presented from many section of the state, and thorough discussion of ways and means of meeting the problems will follow. The ablest leaders in Ohio have been secured to guide our thinking at this Conference. In addition to the Ohio leadership, men and women of national reputation in various welfare lines will be in attendance from outside the state.

Nearly a thousand social workers, coming from every county in the state, will attend this Conference. The Conference is divided into seven main divisions, each of which will hold several sessions. The divisions deal with problems of family relief, adult dependency, child welfare, delinquency, health, community organization, industry and economics. In addition to the regular divisions of the Conference, nineteen state-wide kindred groups will hold from one to three sessions each. Every type of welfare work done in Pickaway-co will receive consideration at one or more of the various sessions.

JUNIOR RESERVES DRAW UP PLANS

The first meeting of the year for the Junior Girl reserves was held Tuesday to discuss plans for initiation of freshmen girls who wish to join the club this year. The club also discussed a time for club meetings but nothing definite was decided.

The girls changed Act 4 of the club consititution. This change states that initiation of new members is to take place in September. It was formerly stated that the new members were not to be initiated before the first week of October.

The membership committee is composed of Dorothy Fausnaugh, Lydie Givens and Doris Schreiner. The duty of this committee is to determine if the scholastic averages of candidates are high enough for their eligibility to the club.

Dorothy Lyle, Betty Morris and Doris Moffitt are members of the initiation committee. Refreshments are to be in charge of Marianne Bennett, Reginia Mack and Vera Zaenglein.

Modern Schools

The traditional conception of the schoolroom was of a dreary place, presided over by a grim-faced individual, punishing ruler in hand, intent on administering frequent and sundry doses of "The Three R's" to unwilling pupils. The modern conception of the schoolroom is entirely different.

Educators agree that the learning process develops most naturally when it is approached from the point of view of the child—it must be a joyous experience, crowded to overflowing with many opportunities for pleasure. There must be no coercion. There must be natural development with materials which children enjoy. There must be opportunities for creative expression. There must be materials which will enable growing pupils to share vicariously in all that pertains to the great world of which the school is but a part.

If one were going to advertise for what one expected of the modern school, the advertisement might read somewhat as follows: "Joy Wanted—for Modern Schools—a place where children may learn while doing things they enjoy, in an atmosphere essentially academic but brightened by expressions of the creative instincts of the children themselves, presided over by a teacher whose contagious good humor and sympathetic understanding of child psychology will enable her to develop to its fullest and best expression the native ability inherent in each of her pupils."—From September issue of "Ohio Schools."

student opinion

After Mr. Gephart gave his opinion on health one of the students of C. H. S. gave his. The following rules were suggested:

1. Sleep with windows open and mouth shut.
2. Apple sauce is stewed happiness.
3. Let your favorite cake be a cake of soap.
4. Eat dried fruits and keep fresh.
5. Too many sweets make sour children.
6. Have horse sense and eat oat meal.

STAFFS CHOSEN

TEAM HAS NEW SUITS

New football paraphernalia, including 11 shell pants, 12 jerseys and 11 viking head gears, has been purchased from Lowe and Campbell, Spaulding, and Goldsmith and were first worn at the Lancaster night game.

The football pants are black with a bright red insert running down each leg from the waist to the knee.

The viking head gears are red and black. The jerseys which will be worn only at out of town games are white with black numbers on the back. New shoulder pads were also secured.

WHY NOT ELECT CAPABLE LEADERS?

With the organization of classes comes the problem of class loyalty. So many students elect officers for classes who are not capable of the positions to which they are elected or who are not interested enough in the class to make out new plans and lead the students in these projects.

And, likewise, some students do not attend class meetings. Isn't it necessary for all students to be present if their wishes are to be carried out in things that the class undertakes? A fourth of the class cannot determine what the majority wants. All must attend if they expect to be considered in class matters.

Attend class meetings, take part in the discussion at each meeting, lend a hand on the committees to which you are appointed, and aid your class in becoming a strong, enthusiastic organization of students, willing and anxious to undertake bigger and better things for itself.

BASKETBALL FOR FACULTY

It is remored that the members of the high school faculty are going to have a basketball team, this year. The report also states that secret practice sessions will tart in the gym in the near future. The outlook for a successful campaign is bright since five veterans are again available for the squad.

Administrators Eagleson and Gephart will undoubtedly provide the scoring punch for the tutors.

The probable line-up will be: Gephart and Eagleson forwards, Daily center, Rife and Hite guards, with Zaenglein coaching and Herberholz mascot.

PICNIC BRINGS DESIRED RAIN

The teachers at the high school building feel that they shoul be thanked for the much needed rain that came Wednesday.

They had a picnic planned for that evening after school, but of course, the weather man always spoils such outings. As a result it was postponed until some time next week.

The committee in charge consists of Miss Watson, Miss Pigman, and Mr. Watts.

The next time we need rain let's plan more picnics.

DEPRESSION IS CHAPEL TOPIC

A very well known subject found its way into chapel at C. H. S. Monday morning when Principal E. I. Gephart spoke to the students on "Depression." A comparison of the result of an overloaded stomach with the depression was made in Mr. Gephart's speech.

Changes among the metal work, manual training and business English classes were also made.

Rules on tardiness and absences were given for the benefit of all newcomers.

BOOK SALES "ARE DEPRESSED"

This year's book sale is another victim of the depression. Last year on the fourth day of school $845.50 worth of books had been sold. This year on the fourth day only $361.95 worth of books had been recorded.

Principal E. I. Gephart attributes the reduction in sales to the fact that no changes have been made in text books thus enabling the student body to buy books from pupils taking the course the previous year.

CERCLE D'HONNEUR ET SUCCES

George Frederic Grand-Girard was born at the Red Oak Parsonage, and was educated at Highland Institute and Kingston Academy. Later he studied Pharmacy in Cincinnati, Ohio. He purchased his brother's drug store in Circleville in 1883, and has continued in the same business, and also in the same location ever since, the building being the last one of the old Circle from which the town took or derived its name. He has been in this business for 54 years.

He is an Elder in the Presbyterian church, a Superintendent of Sunday school for a number of years and has held several important positions in the city.

Mr. Grand-Girard is very well liked by all the people, both young and old and he always has a nice juicy stick of gum to give to his many friends.

PRINCIPAL TOPICS

Animals must adjust themselves to a changed environment. Too great and sudden changes in the environment of some animals may mean their death for they are not able to make the necessary physical adjustment.

A change from a three months' vacation to the class room calls for a change in us physically. We must assist our bodies in making the change by proper food, plenty of rest and sufficient means of rest and sufficient means of physical exercise to keep our system functioning properly. Poor health habits are soon reflected in our attitudes and responses in school. Make KEEP PHYSICALLY FIT your slogan.

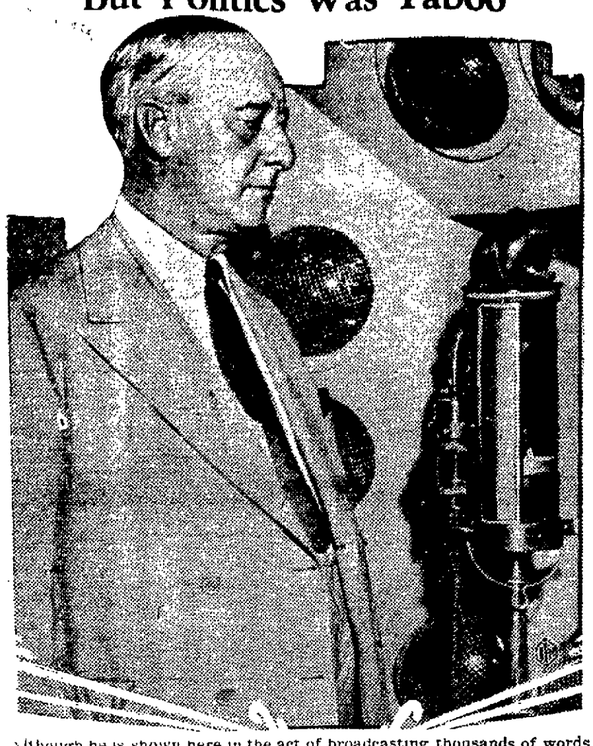
Will's Daughter

It doesn't seem so long ago since this young lady was just a pretty child, and look at her now. She is Miss Mary Rogers, daughter of Will Rogers, cowboy humorist and movie actor, shown as she arrived at New York from Europe. Miss Rogers has spent the last three months in Paris.

But Politics Was Taboo



Although he is shown here in the act of broadcasting thousands of words over his beloved "raddio," former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York still maintained his sphinx-like attitude towards the political situation and his sentiments about Governor Roosevelt's candidacy. Instead, Al confined himself to a discussion on the magazine, of which he is the editor-in-chief. The Happy Warrior's image was also broadcast by television.

YOUNG RESIDENCE

Renick for $20. The latter fact is known as it is recorded on the back on the picture.

WINGS INTERESTING

PROBABLY the most interesting feature of the homestead to most persons is the drover's room located on the south side. The three square projections are bedrooms but the south front one was built solely for the use of strangers who were driving cattle through to the eastern market. Since these men were often entire strangers, there is no doorway between this room and any others, so one must go outdoors to enter it. During the past summer this part of the house was used as a washroom for the campers at Mount Oval.

The beautifully carved stairway shown in an above picture is located at the rear of the house. It is also finished in ivory and was carved by hand in a most interesting unusual pattern.

The home passed into the hands of Mrs. Young's family in 1860 when William Renick sold the farm and homestead to Daniel Ludwig, Mrs. Young's father. Mr. Renick moved to Circleville where he erected and lived, until his death, in the home now owned and occupied by Charles H. May, Mound and Court-sts. And it might be added, in this connection that Josiah Renick, a brother of William, erected and lived in the home now owned by Col. C. E. Groce. These Renick brothers were pioneer stockmen and were the first to import the famous Short Horn cattle into Ohio from Europe, and in tribute to whom, Ross-co erected a monument a few years ago.

FROM the Scioto Trail, the home gives the impression of smallness, yet a pilgrimage through it, very soon dispels that impression. Mrs. Young is full of sentiment concerning the old residence and when it is suggested that it might be modernized with gas or electricity, (as kerosene lamps are still used to furnish light), she is not backward in asserting that to modernize would be to destroy the characteristics and memories which she holds dear.

CUBA SWITCHES CONSULS

SALARY CUTS

certain other officers whose terms have already begun and which will extend beyond the coming biennium.

NEW OFFICIALS

While the purpose of the contemplated salary-reduction legislation is intended to affect officials elected next November and who will take office early next year, the committee explained that only about one-third of the judges throughout Ohio will take office next year.

With a view to placing all public officials upon an equality, the committee recommended that the legislators during the special session adopt a resolution requesting judges and all other officers whose compensation may not be affected by the contemplated legislation to voluntarily give up such parts of their salaries as will result in an equalization.

The committee advised that the proposed salary-wage reduction schedule apply to all state, county and township officers and employees, except those engaged in common labor.

"In the cases of state educational and other institutions managed by boards of trustees, we believe that the total amounts of their personal service compensation should be reduced by the application of this schedule to their existing payrolls but that the fixing of individual rates of compensation among their employees be left to the trustees themselves," declared the report.

Besides Bevis, the committee comprised A. C. Ernst, Cleveland; Frank Cave, Mansfield; George B. Chandler, Columbus; R. B. Ackerman, Galion; Max Hirsch, Cincinnati, and H. S. Atkinson, Columbus.

TEAM HAS NEW SUITS

New football paraphernalia, including 11 shell pants, 12 jerseys and 11 viking head gears, has been purchased from Lowe and Campbell, Spaulding, and Goldsmith and were first worn at the Lancaster night game.

The football pants are black with a bright red insert running down each leg from the waist to the knee.

The viking head gears are red and black. The jerseys which will be worn only at out of town games are white with black numbers on the back. New shoulder pads were also secured.

WHY NOT ELECT CAPABLE LEADERS?

With the organization of classes comes the problem of class loyalty. So many students elect officers for classes who are not capable of the positions to which they are elected or who are not interested enough in the class to make out new plans and lead the students in these projects.

And, likewise, some students do not attend class meetings. Isn't it necessary for all students to be present if their wishes are to be carried out in things that the class undertakes? A fourth of the class cannot determine what the majority wants. All must attend if they expect to be considered in class matters.

Attend class meetings, take part in the discussion at each meeting, lend a hand on the committees to which you are appointed, and aid your class in becoming a strong, enthusiastic organization of students, willing and anxious to undertake bigger and better things for itself.

BASKETBALL FOR FACULTY

It is remored that the members of the high school faculty are going to have a basketball team, this year. The report also states that secret practice sessions will tart in the gym in the near future. The outlook for a successful campaign is bright since five veterans are again available for the squad.

Administrators Eagleson and Gephart will undoubtedly provide the scoring punch for the tutors.

The probable line-up will be: Gephart and Eagleson forwards, Daily center, Rife and Hite guards, with Zaenglein coaching and Herberholz mascot.

PICNIC BRINGS DESIRED RAIN

The teachers at the high school building feel that they shoul be thanked for the much needed rain that came Wednesday.

They had a picnic planned for that evening after school, but of course, the weather man always spoils such outings. As a result it was postponed until some time next week.

The committee in charge consists of Miss Watson, Miss Pigman, and Mr. Watts.

The next time we need rain let's plan more picnics.

DEPRESSION IS CHAPEL TOPIC

A very well known subject found its way into chapel at C. H. S. Monday morning when Principal E. I. Gephart spoke to the students on "Depression." A comparison of the result of an overloaded stomach with the depression was made in Mr. Gephart's speech.

Changes among the metal work, manual training and business English classes were also made.

Rules on tardiness and absences were given for the benefit of all newcomers.

BOOK SALES "ARE DEPRESSED"

This year's book sale is another victim of the depression. Last year on the fourth day of school $845.50 worth of books had been sold. This year on the fourth day only $361.95 worth of books had been recorded.

Principal E. I. Gephart attributes the reduction in sales to the fact that no changes have been made in text books thus enabling the student body to buy books from pupils taking the course the previous year.

CERCLE D'HONNEUR ET SUCCES

George Frederic Grand-Girard was born at the Red Oak Parsonage, and was educated at Highland Institute and Kingston Academy. Later he studied Pharmacy in Cincinnati, Ohio. He purchased his brother's drug store in Circleville in 1883, and has continued in the same business, and also in the same location ever since, the building being the last one of the old Circle from which the town took or derived its name. He has been in this business for 54 years.

He is an Elder in the Presbyterian church, a Superintendent of Sunday school for a number of years and has held several important positions in the city.

Mr. Grand-Girard is very well liked by all the people, both young and old and he always has a nice juicy stick of gum to give to his many friends.

PRINCIPAL TOPICS

Animals must adjust themselves to a changed environment. Too great and sudden changes in the environment of some animals may mean their death for they are not able to make the necessary physical adjustment.

A change from a three months' vacation to the class room calls for a change in us physically. We must assist our bodies in making the change by proper food, plenty of rest and sufficient means of rest and sufficient means of physical exercise to keep our system functioning properly. Poor health habits are soon reflected in our attitudes and responses in school. Make KEEP PHYSICALLY FIT your slogan.

Will's Daughter

It doesn't seem so long ago since this young lady was just a pretty child, and look at her now. She is Miss Mary Rogers, daughter of Will Rogers, cowboy humorist and movie actor, shown as she arrived at New York from Europe. Miss Rogers has spent the last three months in Paris.

But Politics Was Taboo

Although he is shown here in the act of broadcasting thousands of words over his beloved "raddio," former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York still maintained his sphinx-like attitude towards the political situation and his sentiments about Governor Roosevelt's candidacy. Instead, Al confined himself to a discussion on the magazine, of which he is the editor-in-chief. The Happy Warrior's image was also broadcast by television.

Renick for $20. The latter fact is known as it is recorded on the back on the picture.

WINGS INTERESTING

PROBABLY the most interesting feature of the homestead to most persons is the drover's room located on the south side. The three square projections are bedrooms but the south front one was built solely for the use of strangers who were driving cattle through to the eastern market. Since these men were often entire strangers, there is no doorway between this room and any others, so one must go outdoors to enter it. During the past summer this part of the house was used as a washroom for the campers at Mount Oval.

The beautifully carved stairway shown in an above picture is located at the rear of the house. It is also finished in ivory and was carved by hand in a most interesting unusual pattern.

The home passed into the hands of Mrs. Young's family in 1860 when William Renick sold the farm and homestead to Daniel Ludwig, Mrs. Young's father. Mr. Renick moved to Circleville where he erected and lived, until his death, in the home now owned and occupied by Charles H. May, Mound and Court-sts. And it might be added, in this connection that Josiah Renick, a brother of William, erected and lived in the home now owned by Col. C. E. Groce. These Renick brothers were pioneer stockmen and were the first to import the famous Short Horn cattle into Ohio from Europe, and in tribute to whom, Ross-co erected a monument a few years ago.

FROM the Scioto Trail, the home gives the impression of smallness, yet a pilgrimage through it, very soon dispels that impression. Mrs. Young is full of sentiment concerning the old residence and when it is suggested that it might be modernized with gas or electricity, (as kerosene lamps are still used to furnish light), she is not backward in asserting that to modernize would be to destroy the characteristics and memories which she holds dear.

CUBA SWITCHES CONSULS

HAVANA—Jose Manuel Vasquez Bello, recently appointed to succeed Augusto Marchan as Cuban consul general in New York, has left for New York to take over his new office. It was announced also that Rodolfo Betancourt Payrol would be transferred from New Orleans to the consulate in New York.

SALARY CUTS

certain other officers whose terms have already begun and which will extend beyond the coming biennium.

NEW OFFICIALS

While the purpose of the contemplated salary-reduction legislation is intended to affect officials elected next November and who will take office early next year, the committee explained that only about one-third of the judges throughout Ohio will take office next year.

With a view to placing all public officials upon an equality, the committee recommended that the legislators during the special session adopt a resolution requesting judges and all other officers whose compensation may not be affected by the contemplated legislation to voluntarily give up such parts of their salaries as will result in an equalization.

The committee advised that the proposed salary-wage reduction schedule apply to all state, county and township officers and employees, except those engaged in common labor.

"In the cases of state educational and other institutions managed by boards of trustees, we believe that the total amounts of their personal service compensation should be reduced by the application of this schedule to their existing payrolls but that the fixing of individual rates of compensation among their employees be left to the trustees themselves," declared the report.

Besides Bevis, the committee comprised A. C. Ernst, Cleveland; Frank Cave, Mansfield; George B. Chandler, Columbus; R. B. Ackerman, Galion; Max Hirsch, Cincinnati, and H. S. Atkinson, Columbus.
